Wage and price controls lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's unexpected lifting of most mandatory wage-price controls already has set off reactions ranging from a stock market surge to dire predictions of a price crunch on wage-earners.

Nixon Thursday abolished the tight mandatory controls except in the food and health industries, along with most of the government machinery for enforcing them. He set up instead a system of voluntary guidelines and asked Congress to extend the standby control authority, expiring April 30, so that the government could move in quickly to halt excessive increases.

In a nutshell, Phase 3 of the Nixon economic program provides that prices may be raised, but the increase should not exceed the increase in costs; wages may be increased without government approval, but for the present, raises are expected to be kept within the 5.5-per-cent guideline in effect since November 1971.

The old Phase 2 standards will be retained for processors and retailers of food, and for doctor, dentist and hospital bills. Those two areas have seen some of the biggest price increases.

In Chicago, Dr. John R. Kernodle, board chairman of the American Medical Association, said Phase 3 discriminates against the health-care professions. He said there is a possibility of "a flight of allied, ancillary and support personnel from the health field...."

The aim of Phase 3, Nixon said, is to cut the inflation rate to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year—to keep fighting inflation until the "impact is felt at the local supermarket or corner grocery store."

Except in the reserved areas, large business and labor unions will no longer have to get advance approval for wage and price rises. The looser mandatory controls over construction wage increases also were retained and the President said voluntary efforts to hold down interest rates will continue.

The stock market took off on the announcement, pushing the Dow Jones industrial index 15.35 points above the previous day before settling down for a 5.64-point gain to a new closing high of 1051.70.

Analysts said expectation of higher profits steamed up the market.

But critics in Congress, most of them Democrats, said they fear a surge of inflation that will push prices up faster than wages.

Chairman Wright Patman, DTex., of the House Banking Committee predicted Congress "will make its own independent judgement" as to the terms on which control authority is extended. He said the committee, where the control legislation originated, will begin extensive hearings on the whole stabilization program in about two weeks.

To family- type farmers

Operating loans available

COLUMBIA — John O. Foster, state director of Farmers Home Administration, said today that although FHA can no longer make emergency loans family- type farmers are still eligible for operating loans. At this time funds for operating loans appear adequate to serve all eligible applicants.

The interest rate for operating loans is 5 7/8 per cent. These loans can be used to refinance secured operating debts, annual operating expenses -- such as fuel, seed, spray material, repair, labor and other annual expenses. Farmers can also purchase livestock and essential farm machinery with an FHA operating loan.

Portions of operating loans can be repaid in a period of up to seven years. Repayments on expenditures used for refinancing and purchasing capital goods can be repaid in a period of up to seven years, and in some cases the last installment can be a balloon payment which can be renewed for up to five years.

An applicant, to be eligible for an operating loan, must be 21 years of age, unable to obtain credit elsewhere, have the experience and ability to carry out a successful system of farming, and cannot operate a larger than family-type farm.

A family - type farmer is defined by the Farmers Home Administration as an operator of a farm which will provide substantial income by itself, and the farm income plus income from non-farm sources will provide the family with a reasonable standard of living. Labor is furnished by the farmer operator and his immediate family; however, up to one full-time hired hand can be authorized in his operation. The acreage varies from 80 up to 800 acres depending upon the system of farming being followed and the labor and capital input required.

FHA cannot advance more than $50,000 to any one individual. During the period borrowers have their loans with FHA, they are encouraged to obtain as much needed credit from other sources as possible, when it is available to them in terms they can repay.

Eligibility for an operating loan is determined by the FHA County Committee. Bobby R. Hicks of Essex, Scott County FHA County Supervisor, said the local county committee is composed of Johnnie L. Blissett, of Oran Route One, Albert Peters, Jr. of Bertrand Route One, and Bill V. Arington of East Prairie Route One.

Interested applicants should contact the FHA County Office located at 106 E. Center St. Sikeston, Telephone 471-1014.

Quake Shakes SeMo

IRONTON, Mo. (AP)--A mild earthquake rocked portions of Iron and St. Francois counties in southeastern Missouri this morning, but police in the two counties said they had received no reports of damage.

The seismographic station at St. Louis University said the quake occurred shortly before 7 a.m. and lasted for only a few minutes. Officials said the quake registered about 3.5 on the Richter scale.

A spokesman at the center said the quake was probably caused by a slippage in underground rock formations.

Food pickup to continue

Surplus food commodities will be distributed all next week to persons in Scott County whose commodities card is stamped for next week, a spokesman for the distribution center in Sikeston told The Daily Standard today.

The February distribution will begin Feb. 5.

A tape player and watch were reported stolen from an automobile belonging to Jim Terrell of 733 Greer.

The items were taken late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning while the car was parked in front of his house. The tape player was valued at $45 and the watch at $70.

A battery was reported stolen from a car belonging to Greg Bailey, 1056 N. Kingshighway, while it was parked at the bowling alley. The battery was taken late Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Coroner's jury rules on death of Johnson

CHARLESTON — A Coroner's jury Thursday afternoon ruled Wilbur Force Johnson, 46, of Tuckerman, Ark. died of a gunshot wound in the right side of the chest inflicted by a person or persons unknown.

The jury, composed of Gene Slayton, Roy Bone, Kenny McDowell, Harry Brewer, Don Daughhetee, and Harry Herwig, heard testimony from Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle, Charleston Police Chief Bob Ritchey, Brenda Jones of Cairo, Ill., and Drucella Clark of Charleston.

Coroner McMikle testified he was called to 506 W. Ada St. in Charleston shortly after 6 p.m. Jan. 6. And upon arrival found the body of a Negro male lying on the kitchen floor. After examining the body, McMikle said he found what appeared to be a gunshot wound approximately one half inch in diameter one inch below the nipple of the right chest. A grazed area was found on the right hand and small shot was later removed from the hand.

The coroner said in his opinion the man died of internal injuries, possibly from a ruptured right lung.

Chief Ritchey, next witness called by Prosecuting Attorney W. Clifton Banta, testified he found blood on the living room door and floor and a trail of blood leading to the kitchen where the subject was lying. An empty .38 caliber snub nosed revolver was found on the floor about five feet from the body. According to Ritchey,, no other gun was found in the house.

According to testimony from Brenda Jones, who was in the home at the time of the shooting, Johnson and Mrs. Jeanette Oliver were arguing and fighting over a pistol and a door key to the Oliver residence where the shooting occurred. The argument began in a back bedroom, continued to the living room and later into the kitchen.

Mrs. Jones said Christopher Oliver, Mrs. Oliver's brother, attempted to stop the fighting, but was unable.

"I didn't see who shot him," Mrs. Jones said, however she said she saw Christopher Oliver with a gun after the shooting. And that Oliver left by the front door saying he would be back.

Mrs. Drucella Clark who lives at 504 W. Ada St., directly across from the Oliver home, testified she saw Christopher Oliver leave the house with a long gun and she then called the police.

A first degree murder charge was filed against Christopher Oliver Tuesday and a preliminary hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 17 in Magistrate Court.

Gary R. Darnall, 249 W. Kathleen, will stand trial Feb. 28 on charges of peace disturbance, obstructing traffic and having no city sticker. He pleaded not guilty to the charges Thursday night in City Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore said today charges of possession of Marijuana have been filed against Darnall in Magistrate Court. The drug was reportedly found in his car when he was arrested on the city charges.

A warrant was issued for the arrest of Pat Ross, 112 Cardinal, for failing to appear in court on charges of destroying private property. Bond was set at $25 and court appearance for Feb. 28.

Clippard named Dexter Man of Year

DEXTER — Percy Clippard, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, received the Man of the Year award Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce installation banquet at the Catholic Hall.

Box Hendrix of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce presented the award to Clippard.

Shirlene Jordan, chairman of the beautification committee, was presented a city beautification award by Jerry Shirley of Jefferson City, Community Betternment Program specialist.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick was introduced by Lloyd Williams.

Speaking about Dexter, Kirkpatrick said, "As past president of Chambers of Commerce in Warrensburg and Windsor and former director of the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce, I am aware of the great good Chambers of Commerce can do, and from what I have been able to find out, the Dexter Chamber of Commerce knows what hard work is and its members are not afraid of it.

"The industrial development committee did an outstanding job to attract Arvin Industries to Dexter, Kirkpatrick said. "To continue to attract industries, Dexter will have to continue to make itself more and more attractive, and I'm sure you will"

On state matters, Kirkpatrick said he believed there was no need for a constitutional convention to change Missouri's constitution.

"This document (the constitution) still provides a sound and workable basis for our government," he said.

James C. Kirkpatrick

"Advocates of a sound and workable basis for our government," he said. "Advocates of a constitutional convention have failed to show me any compelling reasons why we should reject our present constitution."

He said the advocates of a constitutional convention fail to recognize the expense of such conventions.

"The cost of such a convention seems to be one of the best arguments against it. Proponents contended it would only cost $2.5 million, instead it cost the Illinois taxpayers $13.5 million to adopt a new constitution," he said.

He added the improvements would not be worth the price.

Kirkpatrick also said he was in favor of a shield law to protect journalists. One is expected to be introduced in the Senate next week.

He listed the reorganization of state government and how the state spends federal revenue sharing funds as two of the most important tasks of the 1973 legislature.

Kirkpatrick said he recommended capital improvements for funds for a new records center. The present building is "totally inadequate and is costing more than $37,000 a year to rent," he said.

He called statewide voter registration the most important improvement to be made in modernizing Missouri's "archiac" election laws.

He reported 76 Missouri counties are without countywide voter registration.

Outgoing president Louis Jones spoke briefly of his year at the chamber helm and presented certificates to members for service with the chamber.

Receiving certificates were:

NOTED AND PASSES ...

We're always happy to pass on scuttlebutt from our newspaper compatriots, like the following:

At the Washington, D. C. Press Club, the topic of conversation was Charles A. Tuller, the government employee who allegedly murdered a bank executive and a policeman in Arlington, Virginia, and then later killed an airline ticket agent in Houston, Texas, while hijacking a plane to Cuba. And the question arose; what would the Government do with the $2,200.00 monthly paycheck due Tuller on November 3, the day of his resignation from the government service. To which one cynic guessed: "They will probably mail it to Cuba."

Now that our national legislature has been elected for the next two to six years, depending upon their political office, we have a suggestion; we have heard much about the need to clean up the air, and water, and soil. How about adding another "clean up" to that list; namely, clean up the government in Washington, by removing from office all hate- America extremists, and radicals. Why should we have people on the government payroll whose one aim in life is to destroy the government?

YOU CAN SHOP
A LA CARTE NOW

Take your modern discount department store, which has been around quite a while now, combine it with the time- honored tradition of selling by mail through catalogues, and you've got the latest wrinkles in the world of merchandising.

Springing up around the country, especially in small and medium - sized towns, is a new type of store.

Patrons don't shop in the store, in the usual sense. They have previously received a catalogue which enables them to browse through selections in their homes. When they have decided on a purchase, they go to the local catalogue showroom, where they can inspect the actual item, fill out an order and take it with them.

For the customer, the convenience is obvious. Advantages to the seller include, for one thing, the need for fewer clerks. Also, losses from shoplifting have reportedly been slashed almost to zero from the 6.5 per cent experienced in conventional stores, since all stocks are kept in the back and only one sample of each item is displayed on the floor.

Top names in this growing field include Best Products of Richmond, Va., Modern Merchandising, operating out of Minneapolis, and Jewelcor, Inc., of New York.

Indicative of the impact of this new form of merchandizing is the recent announcement by Jewelcor and W. T. Grant, one of the nation's leading mass retailers, of a joint venture to open some 30 catalogue showrooms in the coming year under the name Granjewel.

To coin a phrase, this is another new idea whose time has come — as any groaning mailman who has carried a load of hefty catalogues can attest.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a plumber gets tired of hearing:

"You plumbers are getting like doctors — you hate to make house calls anymore."

"Sam Turnjoint, the only difference between you and Jesse James is that Jesse had to use a gun to get his."

"I've got an unemployed brother-in-law who is looking for an easy way to make a living, Sam. Could you put him on as a helper?"

"As your physician, Sam, I suggest we use a little common sense in our business relations. Remember, I can raise my fees too."

"Just because I flunked you out of high school your first year, Sam, you're not going to refuse to come and fix my leaky toilet, are you? Please Sam, your old teacher needs you. Can't we let bygones be bygones?"

"You say you want Sam, my son, the plumber? Can you call back later, please? He's in consultation now."

"Why is it you always forget some of your tools, but you never forget to send your bill?"

"Yeah, I'm a real old-timer, Sam. I can remember way back when I was young and plumbers made about a dollar an hour, and most of them had calluses all over their hands."

"Sam has been spending the winters in Florida so long he wouldn't know how to fix frozen pipes anymore."

"Yes, it's a real desirable neighborhood to move into. We've got three internists living here, a surgeon, a well-todo undertaker, a banker, a retired admiral — and two plumbers. But don't get your hopes up too high. The plumbers won't accept emergency calls except at their offices."

"Hello, is this the plumber? A pipe in our kitchen has burst and the water on the floor is already six inches deep. When could I make an appointment with you?"

"Sam, as your wife you know I don't like to interfere in your business, but I think you're creating some resentment in your clients by driving up to their houses in your new limousine. Don't you think it would be more diplomatic to go back to the old station wagon?"

"Congratulations, Sam. You're the first plumber the bank has ever had on its board of directors."

"My mommy sent me here, Mr. Turnjoint. She says she knows you're far too busy to come yourself, but would you mind lending us a big wrench and we'll fix it ourselves?"

"I tell you I can't see you any more often, Sam. My neighbors are bound to suspect something if they see a plumber go into a house more than once a month. That never happens."

"Yes, my son has decided to become a plumber instead of a dentist. He can't stand the thought of staring into people's mouths all day. Besides, as a plumber he'll make more money and have shorter hours."

"Never mind coming now to fix my flooded basement, Sam. The kids like it that way, and we've decided to keep it as a swimming pool."

MONITORING FUND SOLICITATIONS

A Rock Port lawmaker plans to introduce a bill in the Missouri General Assembly which would require all organizations soliciting money in more than three counties to register with the Secretary of State. More important, the organization would have to disclose how its funds are spent - how much for administration, research, education and the like.

The proposal is long overdue.

There are many organizations soliciting money for worthwhile causes. But it's a fact that some of them are so loaded with administrative and other costs that only a relatively small percentage of the public's donations trickle down to the actual programs.

Too often an individual gives to an agency, but never knows how much of his or her contribution is going to be of real help.

The proposed solicitation regulations' bill is a sound idea.

It would be to the advantage of all Missourians to have all organizations which solicit funds, over more than three counties, give a full accounting on how all their funds are spent. It's probable, we believe, that the disclosure of some agencies would raise a few eyebrows because of high percentage of administrative, campaign and other extraneous costs.

AS THE DRAFT
WINDS DOWN

If you are of draft age -- or have a son approaching draft age - you need to know the latest twists of draft policy, reports U. S. News & World Report. Even with inductions to end soon, the draft will call some in 1973, and require others to register and be tested.

As to who is vulnerable now, the Pentagon plans are induct up to 10,000 young men next year -- with none to be called in January and all inductions to end next June 30. About half of these 10,000 would be taken from the 1972 pool of draftable youths, born before 1953, who have current draft- lottery numbers below 95. The other 5,000 if called would be selected from those who reach age 19 in 1972 and have lottery numbers no higher than 30.

After drafting stops, next June at the latest, youths turning 18 in 1973 still will have some obligations -- and may even be inducted into reserve units.

It is pointed out that:

— All young men, for example, still must register with their local Selective Service boards, sometime during the 60-day period between a month before their eighteenth birthday and a month after. This goes on indefinitely.

— Draft lotteries will continue to be held every year, too. probably in January or February, for youths who reach 19 during that year.

— What happens in each case will depend on the individual's lottery number -- a priority number determined by the order in which his birth date is called in the lottery. If his number is high, he will automatically go on standby, without taking any examinations. But, if it is low, he must take the regular armed-forces physical and mental exams to pinpoint his classification.

—No one will be inducted into the active military services after next June 30, except in case of a national emergency declared by Congress or the President. But Defense Secretary Melvin Laird now speculates that some draft-age youths with 1-A classifications may be inducted into the National Guard or the Army, Navy or Air Force Reserves later on if their volunteers continue to decline. This would involve weekend training and summer camp.

Why do refrigerator manufacturers use such cheap quality trim on these appliances?

Considerable research has been done on materials used in refrigerators because many items stored in this appliance will stain or pit metal and plastic, regardless of the quality used. Fruit juices, milk and medicines will stain or pit most surfaces, regardless of quality, Spills should be wiped away immediately. Frequent thorough washing and drying will help keep trims looking like new.

My washing machine is practically a museum piece and I'd like to replace it but the more I shop the more confused I get. Where can I go for help?

First, find a reliable appliance dealer, one who has served neighbors, friends or relatives well. Describe the kind of laundry you have; for instance, heavily soiled clothes, football uniforms, etc. call for a heavy duty cycle and a pre-wash or soak setting. If most of you laundry is permanent press, the dealer can show you models that offer cycles that avoid unnecessary wrinkling. If the water pressure is low at your house, the dealer should know this, too. By giving the dealer your special needs, he can select models that will do the best job for you. Gas and electric utilities can also be helpful if you have wiring or hot water problems.

THE WAY UP

More than any other single agency, Pan American World Airways has been a leader in making the airplane a vehicle of mass international air travel. It has helped to encourage human mobility on a worldwide scale, thus building knowledge and understanding among all peoples. But Pan Am, like all airlines today, has its problems.

Mr. Najeeb E. Halaby, president of Pan Am, touched on a few of them when he declared in an Address, "... I think we're going to have to figure out some way of creating procedures for more responsive and sensitive and quicker adjustment of fares. When we consider congestion and pollution costs and changes in demand and investment requirements, it seems to me that we have a terrific pricing problem on our hands. On labor costs we are all engaged in trying to seek an equitable but fairly dynamic balance between what the man who works earns and what the man who manages garners for his shareholders ... I think if we could even solve half of these industry - wide problems, and if we can expect ... a more favorable economic and regulatory climate, the airlines could look to the Seventies with a lot of confidence."

The point Mr. Halaby makes obvious is that Pan Am and other scheduled air carriers can move through the present temporary period of adversity and on to even higher levels of service if the public, the labor unions and the government regulators recognize that U. S. airlines are taxpaying, private enterprises that must pay their way and earn a profit.

A waggish psychiatrist friend tells of a patient in psychoanalysis who swore off LSD because he was afraid to expand his mind while having his head shrunk.

There would be a lot better bargaining for peace in Southeast Asia if we used the same tactics we did in Germany in both World Wars and in Japan. We gave them so much punishment in their capital cities and in their principal towns, they asked for peace unconditionally. In our Vietnam war we have held back blasting Hanoi although the Communists have never held back in firing rockets into Saigon. Our Democratic nominee for President was willing to make peace on any terms. And even President Nixon, fearing the McGovern tactics, has withdrawn so much of our armed forces we are no longer a threat to the Communists who do not need peace unless they can get more territory. Yes, we had hoped there would be a peace agreement arranged by Dr. Kissinger, whom we admire, but we are glad that he and President Nixon are not willing to let the Communists dictate the terms. We had hoped and prayed that our prisoners of war would be home for Christmas or very shortly thereafter. But we are glad that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong are not telling us what it takes to get peace. Why don't we give them the hell our dear old Harry Truman would have, had he been President the last eight years?

DISARMING OUR COUNTRY

Disarmament negotiations are currently underway in Geneva, Switzerland, between the United States and the Soviet Union. These SALT II talks are a real threat to the security of our country, especially in view of the unwise concessions our government has already made in the SALT I treaties.

Recently Senator Henry Jackson of Washington warned of the dangers of SALT II. He stated that "the first task of SALT II must be to design a posture that takes account of the large Soviet strategic reserve force and impose limits that would reduce that reserve."

Senator Jackson pointed out that unsound negotiating policies left the U.S. at a real disadvantage in the SALT I talks. U.S. negotiators originally held that we must have the right to substitute sea-based for land- based intercontinental missiles and that a low ceiling must be imposed on the number of Soviet launchers. But in the eagerness to obtain a treaty, both of these provisions were dropped, without corresponding concessions on the part of the Soviet Union. As a result, the Soviets now have a 50 per cent advantage in intercontinental ballistic missiles and submarine launched ballistic missiles.

Senator Jackson urged that the SALT II negotiators should ensure that "in any future treaty the United States would not be limited to levels of intercontinental strategic forces inferior to the levels granted to the Soviet Union."

This is the very minimum that our negotiators should insist upon. For the sake of the security of the United States, the administration should refuse to compromise on this vital issue. HLH

Why Cripple Probes?
Drive On Again To Kill House Committee Planning Probe of Urban Guerrilla Terrorists

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON-- This nation is rife with bands of revolutionary riflemen, specialists in explosives and experts in strategic industrial sabotage.

They are dedicated revolutionists proving urban guerrilla warfare-- witness, one sniper on one rooftop in tragic New Orleans-- can be as effective as Mao's early rural marauders.

At the moment there is one congressional committee which can probe these avowed revolutionists, some of whom publish ghoulish tabloids on cop- killing fetishes. Not only can the committee publicly X-ray these bands, which range from five or six terrorists to 150 dedicated, self- proclaimed killers, and reveal the inner workings of extremist political parties such as the pro- Arab terrorist Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party (SWP), but it can put their leaders on the televised stand for all the world to see and hear so there can be no doubt of their rituals, some lethal, some political.

I refer here to the House (of Representatives) Committee on Internal Security. It is the successor to the House Un- American Activities Committee (HUAC) which was not always adept, but was always inclusive in its probes of Soviet espionage rings and infiltration of strategic unions and of those who, financed by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, promoted an alleged proletarian culture and network of personality cults here for decades.

Thus HUAC became the target of intense attack from precisely those whom you would expect to develop venom over exposures of Communists and their fronts.

Now these relics of propagandists from an antediluvian political era have transferred their enmity to the new Internal Security Committee. Some 365 law professors from 94 universities have circulated a petition calling for the abolishment of the committee- which costs the nation a rather minimum $525,000 annually, judging by the group's 1972 budget. At the moment, directed by its 46- year- old chairman, Missouri Rep. Richard Ichord, it is investigating the Dept. of Commerce and probably the Civil Service Commission.

Despite the professorial attack, the committee hardly appears intent on proving these federal agencies are directed by Mrs. Mao out of Peking. The committee wants to know-- and the nation should know-- why a killer such as air hijacker Charles Tuller-- now in Cuba after having killed a policeman and a bank official and an airline employe checking tickets at the Houston airport late last year-- was hired by the Commerce Department. Especially when so much was known of his previous revolutionary activities. Further, how did Tuller get himself into so high a "critical-sensitive" federal executive position?

It would be worth the entire $525,000 to find all the answers in the Tuller case.

Yet the professorial petitioners, who crop up regularly at the beginning of each congressional session, say there is little for the committee to do-- and it would be unconstitutional to do it anyway.

Well, there are the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party, the pro- Peking Workers World Party (WWP), and all their fronts== some of which sound mighty violent. Chairman Ichord says he wants to look into them.

These parties, the SWP and its splinter WWP, are agitating, for example, for the destruction of Israel. They call for collaboration with Palestinian terrorists. They have been charged with anti-Zionist virulence akin to anti-Semitism. SWP literature has mocked those who have wept for the slain Israel athletes at Munich and for the 25 tourists machine- gunned down at Israel's Lydda Airport.

They denounce those who protest the Soviet's head tax on Jewish intellectuals seeking to emigrate to Israel.

The SWP is a small "party" headquartered in New York-- not more than three or four hundred members. The Workers World Party, tough street actionists, reportedly have headquarters in this D.C.-Maryland area, in Milwaukee, in Chicago, and in New York.

Though the SWP has but a handful of young members, it was able to spend tens of thousands of dollars in the 1972 presidential campaign. It ran successful drives here and in 21 states and rolled up some 65,000 votes. Incidentally, the Communist Party- U.S.A. itself spent considerable sums campaigning here and in 14 states. From what sources do these funds spring?

And there are the underground "Weather People" who the federal authorities believe still are dynamiting key defense installations and military targets. And what of the strange groups openly dedicated to violence such as the black separatist Republic of New Africa long active in "cop- fighting"?

What of the Afro- American Liberation Army? True, it consists of only a handful of men and women and it is led from exile by Eldridge Cleaver. But it is on record as calling for the killing of cops. It has been linked with the cold- blooded slaying of New York City policemen amid gay neurotic prancing. Its newspaper, "Right On," has one editorial policy-- kill the police.

The "Liberation Army," according to the FBI, "has been directly linked to killings and assaults of police officers, armed robberies, and airplane hijackings." Its slogan calls for underground urban guerrilla warfare in the U.S. And it takes only one rifleman on one rooftop to stun a city.

These are the arenas into which the House Internal Security Committee seeks to move. Why should anyone say it nay?

Certainly not to save $525,000, a sum which is looted daily from the government. Time has come for some old professors to forget ancient feuds and primordial political legends.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Black September's Plot For Tragedy in Tel Aviv
By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The Black September terrorists, who planned the Munich massacre of Israeli athletes, are now plotting to hijack an airliner and crash it into the heart of bustling Tel Aviv.

The plot has been picked up by intelligence agencies, which monitor the secret radio bands used by the Arab terrorists. The same intelligence sources intercepted similar ominous messages shortly before fanatics machine- gunned the Tel Aviv airport and, again, before terrorists staged the Munich tragedy.

In the earlier instances, the messages were vague about where the terrorists would strike and what exactly they planned to do. The latest messages about crash- diving an airliner into Tel Aviv have been more specific.

Among others, American security officials have tipped off Rep. John Murphy, D— N.Y., who has written to President Nixon about the Arab plot against Tel Aviv. Murphy will cite the bizarre scheme as added evidence of the need for a stringent antihijacking bill.

Murphy has introduced a bill which would compel the United States to bar commercial planes from any nation that refused to prosecute a hijacker and return the pirated plane and ransom at once.

--OFFENSIVE URGED--

American military advisers have urged President Thieu to mount a new offensive across the South Vietnamese border into neighboring Laos.

They have asked him to follow up the saturation bombing of the North with a strike against the Boloven Plateau in southern Laos. This is known to be a major staging area for North Vietnamese attacks.

The American advisers promised, if Thieu would launch an offensive, to support it with U.S. air power. But the South Vietnamese army was so badly battered during last year's Communist offensive that Thieu isn't prepared to send it back into action.

Although most losses have been replaced and the army is back to full strength, the discipline, training and morale of the troops are still lagging. Not only are the replacements green, but the cease- fire negotiations have made all troops cautious. They don't want to be the last to die before a cease- fire is declared.

Meanwhile, the Saigon government is drafting men at the rate of about 18,000 a month, but deserters are leaving the Army in almost equal numbers.

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

POLICE BRUTALITY-- Over the past year, the FBI referred nearly 2,900 police-brutality cases to the Justice Department for prosecution. Yet only 86 cases ever made it into the courts and less than half- a- dozen policemen were actually convicted. The Justice Department explained to us that it's difficult to identify violators and prove intent, that juries are also reluctant to convict policemen. But civil liberties lawyers charge that the civil rights laws are woefully inadequate and poorly enforced.

BRASS RING-- Today we award the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry- G- Round, to Arlen Fulwiler, a Montgomery College, Md., teacher. He learned that Ernest Newman, a 50- year- old mail carrier for the college, was about to be fired for illiteracy. Fulwiler quietly began teaching Newman the fundamentals of reading and writing. Not only was Newman's job saved, but he told us joyfully: "I'm learning how to write my address and I can read through the whole of a book Mr. Fulwiler gave me. I wouldn't give up my lessons for anything in the world." Commented Fulwiler modestly: "The payment is just his face."

B- 52 LOSSES-- We recently reported that the Pentagon has not announced the total number of B- 52s lost during the massive bombing of North Vietnam. The information was given to us by a reliable source who had access to the tightly restricted strike reports. What he told us was accurate at the time. But by the time our story reached print, all but one of the 16 B- 52 losses had been announced. The last loss was announced shortly thereafter. Not released, however, was the news that half- a- dozen additional big bombers were so badly damaged they can't fly and some can't be repaired.

TWO PER CENT LOANS-- The White House decided to end 26 years of two per cent loans under the Rural Electrification Administration without telling the two bureaucrats most concerned-- Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and REA head David Hamil. Both men have grumbled that the White House first failed to consult them, then ordered Butz's office to put out the bad news about the end of the loans. The low- interest loans were the joy of farmers but a bug- bear to the politically strong, investor- owned power companies, which backed President Nixon during the election. The loans had provided 25 million customers in 26 states with cheap electricity.

Reorganization bill drafted

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A state reorganization bill, totaling 27 pages compared with a 542-page project now under study in the state Senate, has been drafted by Rep. Harold L. Volkmer, D-Hannibal.

Volkmer said today his streamlined version, which carries out similar functions as one introduced in the Senate by Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, will be introduced Tuesday.

It carries out the principles of the Little Hoover Commission, which studied government reorganization, Volkmer said. He was on the commission.

The major difference from the seven-pound Senate bill is that the Senate bill gives detailed assignment of duties for each department head and contains enacting statutes for each agency.

Volkmer's bill deals mainly with transfer of departments and provides that the legislature's research staff assemble technical changes in bills revising each agency's statutory authority.

Volkmer says his bill uses techniques in six states which have enacted reorganization bills. They are Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Michigan, North Carolina and Wisconsin.

As in Cason's bill, Volkmer's bill provides guidelines for 13 departments:

Agriculture; Conservation; Consumer Affairs; Regulation and Licensing; Elementary and Secondary Education; Higher Education; Highways; Labor and Industrial Relations; Natural Resources; Mental Health; Public Safety; Revenue; Social Services; and Transportation.

As in Cason's bill, Volkmer's bill provides that the governor will appoint the department heads, who in turn would appoint heads of divisions. But personnel would not be frozen by law into departmental subpunits and divisions, but can be shifted as workloads require, Volkmer said.

Both bills call for certain appointments to be made by the governor.

Fewer than half as many agencies would report directly to the governor under his bill as under the Senate bill, Volkmer said. Under his bill, he said, the number would be 29 compared with 61 under the Senate bill.

Volkmer said his measure directs that the Office of Administration — part of the reorganization plan that will be implemented this year under a law passed last session — assist departments and agencies with "the myriad necessary details of restructuring such as reassignments of building space, and transfers of personnel, funding and equipment."

"The Senate measure," Volkmer said, "uses the Office of Administration as a 'catchall'" and transfers to it numerous functions of operating agencies, along with its staff functions, making it a "hybrid" agency.

New welfare head named

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond, a Republican, named Democrat Berg Shulimson as new director of the State Division of Welfare today.

Shulimson is the third Democrat appointed to a major state office in the Bond administration.

Shulimson, 42, is the former executive secretary of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare, with offices in Jefferson City. He will succeed Proctor N. Carter, who retired last month as director after 27 years.

Carter said today he thought Bond made "an excellent selection" in naming Shulimson. Carter said Shulimson is "knowledgeable in the field of welfare service and will make a fine director."

Carter, who was appointed director in 1945, was described by former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes as one of the most effective state administrators.

Carter said today the Division of Welfare now serves about 340,000 persons from offices in every count of the state. Its annual budget has grown to about $335 million. The division has about 5,000 employes, Carter said.

Democrats Theodore McNeal and Harry Wiggins were named to top positions by the young Republican governor. Wiggins was named general counsel of the Public Service Administration and McNeal was named president of the St. Louis Police Board.

Charles Dickey of Mexico has served as acting director since Carter resigned.

Shulimson holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Buffalo and a masters in social welfare from the University of Pittsburg. He also studied at Cornell University.

He is a member of the American Society of Planning Officials, the National Association of Social Workers and the Academy of Certified Social Workers.

The short wrap coat (left) tops wide-cuffed pants and coordinates with a blazer, skirt and shirt jacket. All in a great "mix" with each other or teamed with brown or white solid skirts and pants. Ice-cream colored gingham checkered brushed acrylic (right) is everyone's favorite blazer, wide-cuffed pants and long skirt. Mixed or matched with a Chanel-like sweater set they are a wardrobe in themselves. Or try a V-necked vest over a soft turtleneck sweater with a checked flip skirt. Add a little flowered shirt and you're off. These Russ designs of separates are in soft pastel and soft fluffy fabrics.

Fear is real to children

Everyone is born with fear; it's nature's way of protecting us from danger. Webster defines fear as "an unpleasant and often strong emotion caused by anticipation or awareness of danger".

Babies instinctively fear falling and loud noises, but as they grow older, they learn other kinds of fears. Some are taught by cautious adults, like "never poke fingers into electric outlets", or "never run into the street", etc. Other fears show up as one's imagination and thinking ability grow. Most small children have some fears that seem ridiculous to grown-ups, but they are "real" to the youngster.

Fear of the dark is very common in childhood. Some ways to help the problem is to give the child extra attention before bedtime. Read or tell a nonstimulating story. They don't need to hear about witches and beasts right then. If he asks for a light or to leave the door open, it's best to allow it until his fears subside. Above all, reassure him that you will be nearby to care for any need that arises and that he will wake up safe and sound. Some are afraid that sleeping is like dying.

Some five or six- year-olds enjoy scary fairy tales. It is almost as if they enjoy being frightened in the safety of a storybook, where everything always seems to end happily ever after. This make believe danger may help children face some of the frightening realities of life, but those under five can't always tell what is real and what's a fairy tale.

Some children need help to express their fears and feelings. Just talking it out goes along way toward putting them in control of their fears.

Games, make believe play, singing, carrying that special toy can be ways children conquer fears.

There's no formula to overcome each fear, because so much depends on the individual and the situation. A few basic tips might include:

Even the silliest fear is real to the child. Don't laugh at it. Give immediate comfort when a child is frightened. When the crisis is past, talk about what frightened the child. Go with the child to see what frightens him, but don't rush him. Try to help him play out his fears.

Ann Landers

Nocturnal fantasies in sleep not real Says Ann

Dear Ann Landers: Like millions of others in this country I am fed up to the teeth with Women's Lib. I'm the owner of a business and sick and tired of the heat I'm getting to hire dames to do a man's job. Equal Opportunity and Fair Employment Practices, they call it. Well, what about Equal Opportunity and some Fair Employment Practices for me? I've got my life's savings in this business and I think I should have the right to say who I want working for me.

I read a while back about a 48- year- old woman from Titusville, Florida, who wanted to be a telephone lineman-- excuse me, linewoman. She accidentally cut a high voltage power line with a pair of pliers and was burned to a crisp.

When are women going to learn that they don't belong every place? You sound like a level- headed skirt who knows the score. Tell those bleeding hearts, will you, please?--- I Have Rights, Too

Dear I.H.R.: Women DON'T belong every place but the example you dredged up to illustrate the point was a poor one. I remember when the Titusville woman was electrocuted, but accidents do happen, and hundreds of male lineworkers have met similar fates.

As more women move into men's jobs we will see how well or how poorly they do. There will always be some women who want to do heavy, masculine- type work, and I say, let 'em do it. If a male, on the other hand, wants to do female- type work, that's all right with me, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how much of the talking a person does in his sleep makes sense? My husband used to kid me about the things I said and we made a big joke of it. But it's not funny anymore.

I know I talk in my sleep because I wake myself up. But I don't remember what I said. I just know I was talking. Now my husband is becoming upset because I am naming people and places and making intimate references to some of the attractive men in our crowd.

I swear by everything holy that I have not been unfaithful, but my husband is beginning to have his doubts because of my frequent references to certain people in my sleep. Or so he says.

Please tell me, Ann, is it possible to have fantasies in one's sleep? Or when a person mentions names, does it mean more than that?--- Awake Nights Over Dreams

Dear Awake: Merely because you mention a man's name in your sleep does not mean you had anything to do with him. Some people have nocturnal fantasies about movie or TV stars, and they've never even met them. They dream about them, talk to them in their sleep and have a lovely time between midnight and dawn. All imaginary, of course. So tell your husband that when he hears you talking, to roll over and go to sleep. It doesn't mean a thing.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were both born and raised in this town. We grew up with the same crowd. One of the girls was widowed last year. She is only 44. Another fellow lost his wife three months ago. These two people know each other but I don't think they realize they might be the perfect pair. Perhaps if a few of us girls start to pair them up for dinner parties, they might "find each other." Right? My husband says "Wrong!" What do YOU say, Ann?--- Cincinnati Cupid

Dear Cupid' If you want to queer a young widow's chances for all time, just start fixing her up with somebody she knows. If you want to do your friend a favor, fix her up with a new face-- preferably from out of town.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You-- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

Fun thought of first when buying toys

NEW YORK (AP) — Fun rather than education should be the primary function of a toy, insists Jerry Wood, who has been designing toys for more than 10 years.

"If kids enjoy a toy they'll learn from it," says the industrial designer who has three young customers for his products in his own family. "But educational toys have become such an 'in' thing that parents sometimes forget the real purpose of toys is entertainment."

Children live in a world of adult authority, and toys represent a child's own world, a world he can control, Wood points out. Thus any toy that gives the child mastery over environment — an environment of make-believe — is educational in that it promotes the child's developing ego and self-expression.

"To get the right toy for the right person you have to know the kid — his needs, desires and interests," Wood explains. "For instance, my 8-year-old daughter is athletic and we give her bicycles, boxing gloves, physical activity toys.

"But another daughter, 9, is interested in fashion, likes to dress up, use makeup; we give her things like a fashion doll with a lot of clothes. And," he goes on, "our 4-year-old daughter likes big baby dolls and she goes around doing various things she thinks mothers should do with a baby."

If you don't know the child, he adds, books are a basic gift for all ages. For toddlers a safe choice is pull toys, playthings that can be taken apart and put back together and some simple games and puzzles.

"The parent should participate in the child's play, though not dominate it," Wood advises. "It should be like you're one of his friends. The parent should know who his child is, how he thinks, how he is developing. It's the parent's responsibility to guide that development."

Wood, who designs toys for manufacturers along with partners Harry Farmlett and Tony Barsanti, believes the quality of toys has improved in the past few years.

"Toys used to be gimmicky and people would buy anything and pay any price," he says. "With the rise of consumerism and concern of both manufacturers and stores in having a good product there is more emphasis on how well it's made.

"We spend a lot of time trying to answer the question, what's the kid going to do with the toy. You have to anticipate any possibility but kids are pretty ingenious and you have to make sure the toy is safe under any circumstances."

In designing toys the first step is to decide what age group it is aimed at, what material will be used and the price category.

"Under $5 is where the market is," Wood notes. "I don't think there is any reason a toy should be expensive to be good. You can get a good toy for 98 cents and a child can get just as much fun out of it as from a $15 truck that goes up and down hills, does somersaults and whistles Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Route K approved

The Missouri State Highway Commission has given its tentative approval for the relocation of approximately a quarter- mile of Route K in Illmo.

The plan would provide a new two-lane pavement from Route N on the north southward to near Hickory Street.

The new section of highway would begin on Route N about 500 feet east of the Scott City - Illmo city limits line (State Street). It would then travel directly south over the railroad tracks to a connection with marked Route N at Hickory Street in Illmo. The plan calls for a grade separation bridge to carry traffic over the St. Louis - Southwestern and the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks.

The Highway Commission's provisional approval for the project was given after extensive studies were made in the area covering highway needs, costs of construction, facilitation of traffic movement, and environmental concerns.

A location public hearing will be held in the community building of the Illmo Housing Authority on First Street in Illmo on Jan. 16, at 1:30 p.m. Area residents are invited to attend the hearing to express their views regarding the project.

TWO GOOD ORATORS

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — A local youth was destined to win the American Legion oratorical contest held here. It couldn't have been any other way — his name is Dan L. Webster.

Webster, whose namesake, Daniel Webster, was one of the greatest U.S. statesmen and orators of the 1800s, received a gold medal and a $25 Savings Bond for winning the contest. He spoke on "Our Living Constitution," which was one of the original Webster's favorite topics.

Waltrip named treasurer for 1973 Dystrophy march

Bill Waltrip, operations officer of Security National Bank, has been named campaign treasurer for the 1973 Sikeston March Against Dystrophy, Glen A. Farasy, field representative for Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. for Southern Missouri, announced today.

Volunteer marchers will conduct a house- to- house appeal Jan. 23 for funds to fight Muscular Dystrophy and related neuro- muscular diseases.

Waltrip said, "The drive here in Sikeston is part of a nationwide effort in which thousands of volunteer marchers will participate. In the interest of public service and for the convenience of the volunteer marchers and donors, Security National Bank will act as depository for the campaign."

Muscular Dystrophy is a disease which cripples its victims by progressively destroying muscle tissue. Thousands of Missouri residents are afflicted by MD. Approximately two- thirds of these victims are children. The majority of its child victims will not grow to maturity unless a cure is found.

Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America is a national voluntary health agency headed by Jerry Lewis. MDAA again this year received the "stamp of approval" of the National Health Council for meeting the standards of performance established for organizations of its kind.

Oil released for hospital

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The federal Office of Emergency Preparedness informed Gov. Christopher S. Bond today that 24,000 gallons of fuel oil have been released for the state hospital at Fulton.

The 1,365-patient hospital was cut down to a four-day fuel supply after the city of Fulton shut off the hospital's natural gas supply at noon Wednesday.

Since then the hospital has been using a reserve supply of fuel to heat the multiple-building complex.

That supply would have been exhausted about 9 p.m. tonight.

Representatives of the governor's office met twice yesterday with representatives of the Missouri Adjutant General's Disaster Operations Office and federal officials were notified of the fuel shortages.

Officials say the crisis has been temporarily alleviated with the release of the 24,000 gallons of fuel oil.

State officials said, however, they are still seeking additional supplies of fuel. Weather conditions are being studied to determine how much additional fuel will be needed to heat the hospital.

The council discussed the water bond issue to be voted on Jan. 23. The councilmen also voted to have city attorney Joe Welborn draw up a city ordinance to prohibit the selling of beer or other intoxicating beverages on Sunday within the city limits.

Missouri visits K-State

COLUMBIA — Missouri is hoping for a re- enactment, and Kansas State wants retribution, when two of the Big Eight's top basketball contenders collide in a conference opener at Manhattan Saturday night.

Both clubs were finalists in the league's pre- season holiday tournament at Kansas City two weeks ago. Mizzou cuffed the 'Cats, 82-72, with a 13- point flurry down the stretch after K-State had surged back from a 15- point handicap to tie the score at 62-62.

The fifth- ranked Tigers struggled to their 12th straight win Monday night at SMU. They edged the Mustangs, 74-73, on John Brown's follow- up lay-in ahead of the final buzzer. The hotly disputed decision came after Missouri, trailing by a point, had put the ball in play from out of bounds with two seconds left.

K-State (9-2) is rated 14th nationally this week.

Against Missouri, the Wildcats won't need any hypo- ing from Hartman. They are still chafing from a second straight defeat by Missouri in the tourney finals -- and, this time, they get a chance to sully the Tigers' unbeaten record on their new tartan court.

At Kansas City, KSU's big buys -- 6-10 Steve Mitchell and 6-9 Larry Williams -- were burdened with early foul trouble. Hartman, therefore, didn't get full mileage out of his top talent, notably Mitchell who still picked up 18 points in a limited role.

Eberhard, the tourney's outstanding player, was tough on the base line. The rugged Iowan pumped in 24 points, including seven of the Bengals' 13 in a row during the late pullaway. On a 9-for-11 shooting performance, mostly from outside, Salmon had a 20-point night.

Last year, Kansas State beat Missouri by two points at Manhattan, and by three in Columbia en route to the conference championship.

The Tigers come home Monday night for a conference date with Colorado, another tourney victim at Kansas City. Missouri stopped the Buffs, 98-78, with their classiest win of the season -- hitting 63.4 per cent from the field.

Brown was the high scorer in that one with 22 -- but all five Bental starters were 71 per cent accurate in field - goal tries.

Coach Sox Walseth's Buffaloes don't have overall size -- and they'd be in genuine distress without the talents of Scott Wedman and footballer Dave Logan.

The 6-7 Wedman is the team's leading scorer. Logan, a 6-4 frseshman, scored 17 against Missouri in the tournament -- and was labeled one of the league's brightest newcomers following his appearance at Kansas City. He was an alternate wingback for the bowl- going Buffs -- but bypassed the trip to Jacksonville.

Turner 7 vs. Colorado (Big 8)

Experience prevails

Experience in wrestling, as in any other sport, is the key to success. This fact was exemplified Thursday night as the Sikeston Bulldog matment dropped their first match in five outings 36- 13, to the Jackson Indians in the SHS fieldhouse.

The young SHS wrestlers managed only four wins on the evening, all by decisions.

Tom Bridger, Scott Hutchison and Jim Huff reeled off three consecutive wins for the Bulldogs early in the match to earn a brief 10- 6 team lead. Bridger and Hutchison were the only wrestlers for Sikeston to remain undefeated.

Losing their undefeated status were Steve Nowell and Bill Lewis. Nowell forced to forfeit his individual match because he could not get down to the 98- pound weight limit. Lewis lost a tough 4- 2 decision.

Bill Harlow, Sikeston's heavyweight division representative, collected the Bulldogs' other win in an 8- 5 decision over Goodson.

In other action, Lee Vaughn and John Ralph lost close individual matches, Ralph losing a 2- 0 decision and Vaughn a 9- 7 contest.

Saturday the Bulldogs will host six other schools in the fieldhouse in a freshman-sophomore tournament. The other schools are Ste. Genevieve, Flat River, Jackson, Charleston, Dexter and Cape Central. Tournament action is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. and continue throughout most of the morning and afternoon.

Results:

98- pound— Nowell forfeited to Loos
105- pound— Bridger beat Wright 14- 1
112- pound— Hutchison beat Jaco 3- 0
119- pound— Huff beat Seabaugh
126- pound— Stinson pinned by Ramsey
132- pound— Lewis lost to Koch 4- 2

155- pound— DeRoush pinned by Welker
167- pound— Blankenship lost to Winderkecht 9- 2
185- pound— Overby pinned by Malone

In junior varsity competition the Bulldogs and Indians battled to a 27- 27 tie. Rhett Moore collected a pin for Sikeston while Jerry Lewis, Mike Crabb, Mark Hesselrode and Bill Paxton won decisions for the Sikeston jayvees.

Kelly favored

EAST PRAIRIE-- Coach Jim Orr and the East Prairie Eagles will host the Scott-Missippi Conference tournament starting Monday.

The Kelly Hawks are seeded team number one with Oran second, Scott County Central third and Chaffee fourth. The other three teams in the tournament will be Delta, Illmo- Scott City and East Prairie.

The Eagles surprised the Oran Eagles this past week as Steve Husk pumped in 27 points, so the hosts could be tough on their own court. Husk has averaged 18 points per game and is a 5- 11 guard. Joe Brown is a 6- 2 senior and leads the team in rebounding from his center position. Carl Moss is 6- 0 and has averaged about 12 rebounds and 12 points per game.

The Chaffee Red Devils are coached by J.F. Dopp and have a team capable of beating anybody in the conference. Senior Scott Thomas stands 6- 7 and leads the team in rebounds and scoring. Guard Pete Dooly is second in scoring and is the team leader in defense.

The Oran Eagles are coached by Joe Scott, assisted by Richard Morris. Scott has primarily a senior team with his two big men, Otis Burley and Paul Taylor, being seniors. Burley and Taylor are depended upon to do the bulk of the scoring and rebounding. Matt LeGrand is a junior and scores in double figures much of the time.

The Eagles are a Class S school under the new classifications for 1972- 73.

The Kelly Hawks are coached by Nick Lampher, assisted by Jim Thornsberry.

The Hawks have a well-balanced attack with a fine defensive team. 6- 2 junior Jeff Jackson is the leading offensive threat and the big rebounder. Denny Shelby is an accurate shooter from the corner and stands 6- 2. Senior Randy Thompson is counted on for defensive work more than offense but can put the ball in the basket when called upon. The guards are Vernon Dirnberger, a 5- 11 senior who Lampher uses for offense and Rich and Kenny Urhahn are the playmakers.

The Hawks recently finished second in the College High Christmas Tournament.

Coach Ronnie Cookson is the head mentor of the Scott Central Braves and his assistant is Ray Shoaf.

The Braves are led in both offense and defense by 6- 3 Fred Rowe, who averages in the 20 point range per game. Rowe is in his last year for the Braves. Robbie Carrow and Robert Cook, both juniors, have hit in double figures this season.

The Illmo- Scott City Rams are coached by Charles Bertrand. The Rams are led in scoring by Rand Amick, a senior. Jim Noon, a 6- 0 senior, and Jim Bollinger, a 5- 8 senior, are the returning letterment from last year's squad.

The Delta Bobcats are coached by Dale Harrison, assisted by Bob Wood. Delta is led by 6- 5 Gary Bock and 5- 11 Carson Kelly. Bock is the leading rebounder and also has scoring ability.

Oak Ridge top seeded

PERRYVILLE— The Perryville Invitational Tournament gets underway Tuesday with the Oak Ridge Jays as the favorite to take the first- place trophy.

It will be a seven- team event with Meadow Heights of Patton seeded second, followed by St. Vincent of Perryville, third, and Jackson fourth. The remaining three teams entered will be College High of Cape Girardeau, host Perryville, and Coulterville, Ill.

Oak Ridge boasts an 11- 4 record for the season and recently placed fourth in the College High Christmas tournament in Cape Girardeau. College High is 0- 8; Jackson, 1- 5; Meadow Heights, 8- 4; Perryville, 2- 4; and St. Vincent, 5- 3.

Meadow Heights is the defending champion, having upended Jackson last year for that honor.

There will be three games Tuesday, beginning at 6 p.m. The semifinals are on Thursday night and the finals Friday night.

Indians host NEMS

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University's basketball Indians will be trying to avenge last Saturday's setback when they take on Northeast Missouri State University of Kirksville Saturday night in their first appearance before the home crowd since Dec. 22. Tip-off time at Houck Field House is 8 p.m.

The game will also be the first regular- season MIAA bout for the Tribe. However, it will not be their first look at fellow league foes.

Last week the Indians competed in the revived MIAA tournament in Springfield and, in the final game of that tourney, came out on the short end of a 75-73 score against Northeast Missouri State. The loss dropped the Tribe to sixth place in the eight-team field.

Discussing Saturday's game with Northeast Missouri State, assistant basketball coach Carroll Williams said, "They will have the confidence of having beaten us once and will play their slow style that produces few mistakes."

He added, "We will try to pressure them into making more mistakes than they did against us at Springfield."

The Bulldogs, with a record of 6-5, are a team which plays well on the road, and one you can't let up against because they just keep on coming, Williams said.

In last week's game with Northeast Missouri State, the Indians shot 48 per cent from the field, outrebounded the Bulldogs by 20, and hit 84 per cent from thhe charity stripe. But they were hurt by numerous turnovers and fouls.

The Bulldogs, on the other hand, played near flawless ball, scored practically every time they came down the floor, and committed only two turnovers in the final half.

On Monday Southeast Missouri State will host Northwest Missouri State University at Houck Field House at 8 p.m. in the second conference outing of the year.

The Bearcats, who finished fourth in the MIAA tournament and defeated Northeast Missouri State in the opening round, have size, jumping ability, quickness and good ball handlers, according to Williams. Their record is 6-4.

The strength of the 'Cats has been bolstered considerable, Williams said, by four junior college transfers, all of whom are now starting, and the assistant coach said Northwest Missouri State is quite capable of defeating the Tribe in spite of the home-court advantage.

After the two home games, Southeast Missouri State will embark on a four-game conference tour that will take the Indians to Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield on Jan. 20, Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg on Jan. 22, the University of Missouri -- Rolla on Jan. 27 and Lincoln University in Jefferson City on Jan. 29.

Last week, in the first round of the MIAA tournament, Southeast Missouri State was in the difficult position of facing the tourney favorite and tourney host in the opening game. Southwest Missouri State was unbeaten and definitely a heavy favorite to romp over the Tribe.

The Bears won, as expected, but by only a 66-62 margin, and the Indians were never far from the lead throughout the game.

The following night, after narrowly missing the upset which would have put them in the championship bracket, the Tribe pounced on Central Missouri State's Mules and recorded a 106-78 victory.

For the most part, the Indian coaches were pleased with their squad's showing in the tourney. Williams said, "We were in every ball game we played," adding, "We played better than our 1-2 record would indicate."

The assistant coach commented that it is difficult for Southeast Missouri State, with the pressure - type basketball it employs, to play three consecutive days. He said that in the final game of the tourney the team was a bit tired.

Raider Week

POPLAR BLUFF— Three Rivers Community College of Poplar Bluff will entertain three other schools in the Classic of Champions basketball tournament beginning tonight at the PBHS gymnasium and ending Saturday evening with the finals.

This highlights a big week for the TRCC athletes after two of their baseball stars were selected in the major league baseball draft early this week.

Randy Smith, a fireballing pitcher from Arbyrd, was selected eighth by California, while Mike Hill of Puxico was singled out by the Boston Red Sox. Both had previously been drafted. Hill was selected by St. Louis in June.

Competing in the basketball tournament will be Lindsey Wilson, Lakeland and Jackson State colleges. The Raiders finished second last season and sport an 8- 3 record going into tonight's game against Jackson State.

Two former Southeast Missouri high school coaches, Jim Hart and Howard Garrett, will lead teams into the tournament.

Eagles in finals

Chaffee moved into the finals of the Scott-Mississippi Junior high basketball tournament Thursday night with a win over the Delta eighth graders, 43-27. Oran defeated Illmo-Scott City seventh graders 30-23 in the second game, and East Prairie eighth graders pulled through a tight one to take a win from Oran, 33-31, in the Scott County Central High School gym.

Chaffee's eighth- grade team stepped out to a first quarter lead and held onto it throughout the game. Wachter paced Chaffee with 22 markers. Bowers hit for 16 points for the losers.

In second game seventh grade action, Oran gained a sizeable edge over Illmo-Scott City. Scott dumped in 12 points to lead the scoring for Oran. Johnson was high scorer with 10 markers for Scott City.

In the final game, Oran was dumped by East Prairie. Falling back in the first half, Oran was forced to play catch- up ball and almost did but East Prairie had the extra basket it needed to pull out the win. Williford ripped the cords for 20 points for the winners. Burlison had 13 markers for Oran.

Finals will be played Saturday night. In seventh-grade action, Illmo- Scott City will be facing Oran at 6:30 for first place, and Chaffee and East Prairie will battle it out for the eighth grade championship.

AL adopts pinch-hit rule

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league baseball, bound by tradition for decades, took a gigantic step towards change Thursday when the American League was given approval to adopt the designated pinch hitter rule.

With attendance lagging compared to the rival National League, the American League also sought a pinch runner rule and interleague play at the joint meetings which were concluded Thursday.

The pinch runner rule was disallowed and the major leagues announced a committee will be adopted to study and review aspects for interleague play which could become a possibility in 1974.

The National League, which will not use the experimental pinch hitter rule, gave its approval for the American League experiment for the next three seasons with Charles "Chub" Feeney, president of the National League, admitting "if it does work out, we wouldn't be reticent to adopting it."

Under the new rule, a manager can designate a pinch hitter to bat for the starting pitcher and all subsequent pitchers in a game without affecting the status of a pitcher throughout the contest.

However, the manager must make his "designate pinch hitter" selection before the start of the game and name the pinch hitter in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-inchief.

"The rule has great possibilities," said Joe Cronin, president of the American League. "It will give the game a new dimension. We're very happy to be able to use it."

Cronin, questioned on numerous ramifications and intricacies of the rule, said "We'll thrash it all out before the season starts."

As far as the All-Star game, the World Series and exhibitions between the two leagues, the rule will not be in affect and the basic rules of baseball will apply.

Commisioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the joint meetings and was strongly in favor of the rule change, said he hoped that the new committee which will be named to study interleague play will have a reort ready before the two leagues hold another joint meeting next August.

Kuhn also said strides had been made towards a new Basic Agreement between owners and players.

The Basic Agreement expired last Dec. 31 and the two groups have been working feverishly on a new agreement. The owners came up with some new twists at the recent meetings in Honolulu but they were quickly turned down by the players.

The explanation of the designated pinch-hitter baseball rule adopted by the American League Thursday:

"A pinch hitter may be designated to bat for the starting pitcher and all subsuquent pitchers in any game without otherwise affecting the status of the pitcher(s) in the game. A designated pinch hitter for the pitcher must be selected prior to the game and must be included in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief.

"A designated pinch hitter shall not take a position in the field in any game in which he appears as a designated pinch hitter; nor shall he appear as a pinch runner. His designation as a pinch hitter for the pitcher limits him to that task exclusively.

"It is not mandatory that club designate a pinch hitter for the pitcher, but failure to designate a pinch hitter prior to the game precludes the use of a designated pinch hitter for that game. "Pinch hitters for a designated pinch hitter may be used. Any substitute pinch hitter for a designated pinch hitter himself becomes a designated pinch hitter. A replaced designated pinch hitter shall not re-enter the game in any capacity.

"Except for designated pinch hitters, all other pinch hitters, and those for whom they hit, will be governed by the adopted official playing rules."

Lightfoot to lead Jan. 21-28 revival

DEXTER — Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, an evangelist from Kerrville, Tex., will conduct revival services at First Missionary Baptist Church from Jan. 21 through Jan. 28, according to the Rev. M. E. Dark, pastor.

Services will begin at 7:30 each evening and 10:30 a.m. each Sunday.

For Dr. Lightfoot, the revival services mark a return engagement at Dexter First Baptist.

Dr. Lightfoot has conducted crusades throughout America and in Mexico, Guatemala and Europe. He is also sought after for appearances in public school assemblies, civic club meetings, and banquets.

He is a native of Santa Anna, Tex., and a graduate of both Hardin- Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth, Tex. He has served as pastor of churches in Big Lake, Odessa and Snyder — all in Texas — and as superintendent of missions for the Austin and Midland- Odessa Baptist Associations where he led in establishing 14 new churches.

In addition to his preaching ministry, Dr. Lightfoot is known also as a humorist and magician. His messages on Christianity are blended with humor. He emphasizes morality, patriotism and the Christian life through his magic presentations, adding a new dimension for helping people understand the message of the Bible.

His "magic with a message" programs for school assemblies have proven to be particularly popular with young audiences throughout America.

Randy Lablanc of Columbia, Miss., will lead music for the revival.

Bruces Honduras bound

MALDEN — The Rev. and Mrs. Joe W. Bruce have been assigned a foreign mission field in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, after completing a language study course in Costa Rica.

The Rev. Mr. Bruce was born at Clarkton, where his parents operated the Ward Store in the early 1940s, but grew up in the Qulin area. He is a former pastor of Valley Creek Baptist Church at Leonard, Tex. His wife is the former Miss Shirley Plumlee of Clarendon, Ark.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce received their first appointment to the foreign mission field in 1971.

Faith aided Pueble crew

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Stephen R. Harris, who was the chief intelligence officer aboard the USS Pueblo, says a deep belief in God helped the ship's 82 crewmen survive their 11-month imprisonment in North Korea five years ago.

"Among our crew God was very much alive," Harris, now with the Department of the Navy in Washington, said in a recent interview.

The Pueblo and its crew were seized Jan. 23, 1968, by North Korea, who said the ship had violated territorial waters.

Harris said he returned for his Bible "in the confused moments when capture seemed imminent," but it was immediately taken from him "at the point of a bayonet."

Harris said the prisoners decided to make a Bible "which was less than 100 per cent successful.

"Snatches of hymns, elements of worship services, precious bits of scripture were written on left-over scraps of paper. This unorthodox, but living, vital document became known as the 'Pueblo Bible.'

"In our unchurched, unlearned way we turned to God" as prayer groups and secret biblical discussions sprang up among those not in solitary confinement," he said.

Harris said when the Pueblo Bible was discovered, he received a "new set of bruises," but he was "brought out of despondency" by the memorized scripture.

A Religious Trend: Pastors in Charge

By REV. DAVID POLING

During periods of rapid social change and cultural upheaval, it is comforting to read history. It is not surprising that one finds so many history majors on college campuses—and such a keen interest in the Middle Ages, and on into the Reformation.

One must not force historic parallels, but there are numerous connections between the 20th century and the 16th—and the religious comparison is fascinating, indeed.

Today we are viewing the breakup of large superstructure organizations like the National Council of Churches. We also are witness to the drastic reordering and reshaping of major denominations.

Within Protestantism, power has moved sharply away from national boards and agencies to regional and state alliances. Money and manpower is more and more being decided and directed on the local level

In many instances, the convulsions of change have been painful, and unfair. Yet here we are and the situation is not unlike the 16th century Reformation that saw so much commotion in the wards of education and religion.

Luther brought a penetrating and devasting judgment against a tired order—the Roman Catholic Church. At the same moment, restless princes and national leaders were kicking the props out of the Holy Roman Empire, so the changes for the common man touched church and state. The one great church gave way to the likes of Luther, Calvin, and Knox—and much later, but with no less fire, John Wesley.

What is most interesting now, within the broad structural changes that shape the church of the 1970s, is the return to leadership of the pastor-theologian. No longer will the life of the Christian household be dominated by personalities at headquarters or individuals holding national posts. The base has returned to the parish and the pastor becomes the moving force of church life.

Luther, Calvin (a layman and lawyer), Knox, and later, Wesley, were pleased to give their energies to the parish. Without fail they preached every Sunday and taught constantly within the community. Their direction was not the creation of some vast national body but a believing Christian community wherever people gathered.

It is our contention that a replay of this mood exists and that the Christian church is being served by some outstanding pastor/theologians of every brand and persuasion.

It is good to mention names, for it validates this observation.

Methodists are aware of the work of James Wright in Kalamazoo, Mich., Broadus Elkins in El Paso, Texas, Gene Miller in Oklahoma. Many of these clergymen exert civic influence as well as pastoral care like Ralph Loew in Buffalo, N.Y., and John Pearson in Pleasantville, N.Y., and fellow Lutherans at St. Peter's Church in Manhattan.

Disciples of Christ as represented with men like Howard Fowler of Salem, Ore., and Orval Holt of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Southern Baptists abound with strong pastoral leaders, men like Buckner Fanning of Texas and Thurston Brice in Louisiana.

United Presbyterians look to individuals like Charles Ehrhardt in Arizona and James Angell of Claremont, Calif.

Many of these pastors, like Angell, have written good books while maintaining a strong pastoral relationship.

Already we are out of space with a dozen denominations to go—proving this point, that powerful and able churchmen abound who are serving the local church—the center for Christian community in the years ahead.

Missionaries guests for weekend program

POPLAR BLUFF— Dr. and Mrs. Byron Haines, fraternal workers of the United Presbyterian Church, presently on furlough from the Christian Study Center, Rawalpindi, Pakistan, will be guests at a "Weekend of Mission" at First Presbyterian Church today through Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Haines were first appointed to the mission field in 1956 when he was assigned to serve as an instructor in chemistry and as college chaplain at Forman Christian College in Lahore, Pakistan.

Dr. and Mrs. Haines will be involved in numerous meetings during their visit. Saturday at 2 p.m., Dr. Haines will discuss the nature of mission on six continents as it pertains to the problems and issues which now confront the denomination. At 7:30 p.m., there will be a service of prayer and praise.

Dr. Haines will preach at the worship service Sunday morning on the subject, "World Mission Now". He and Mrs. Haines will meet with the young people at 4 p.m. for informal discussions. At 6 p.m., there will be a "Family Night" covered-dish dinner. The program will feature a slide presentation of the mission in Pakistan.

Mrs. Haines will be guest of the women of the church at a luncheon meeting Monday. She will discuss the Presbyterian work in Pakistan from a woman's point of view.

Scripture: Ezekiel 1:1-3; 2-4; 33:1-9

EZEKIEL AMONG THE EXILES

Ezekiel, one of our major prophets, was carried from Jerusalem into exile by the Babylonians after the invaders captured the city in 597 B.C.

After five years as a displaced person Ezekiel received his call to serve God as a prophet. In the first chapter of his book the prophet attempts to use words to recall his vision from God.

It is difficult to relate such an encounter to another person. Ezekiel was subjected to periods of trance and ecstasy and was certainly psychic.

Many of his prophecies are given to the people in the form of symbolic actions. Above all, Ezekiel is a writer. He is useful to the church historian because of his concern for dates.

Ezekiel refers to himself as the "son of man," stressing the fact that he is a mere human being called to God's service. This forms the basis for the memory selections today:

"Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; whenever you hear a word from my mouth, you shall give them warning from me."

To become a "son of man" one must not be a passive tool. Rather, he must have an open mind, giving himself fully to serving God.

To become a successful prophet one must not become too concerned about the attitudes of those to whom he speaks. He must have faith in God's words and have the courage to relay the messages to the people.

Ezekiel accepted his responsibilities of being a prophet without any misgiving. He did not experience moments of inner struggle that Jeremiah encountered.

Ezekiel did become discouraged at times. He knew he was not to become too upset over the people's indifference or inattention to his prophecies.

Ezekiel wanted his people to believe in his message. On the other hand, we seldom want to be told that we have sinned and we will be punished.

With his divine commission, Ezekiel told his people that God was displeased with them and He would punish them. They became displaced persons, as many Jews have been for centuries.

After two thousand years, the Jews finally received a home they could call their own. The United Nations created the nation of Israel in 1948. Even today conflicts continue there.

Religious beliefs have held the Jews together. No other group of people have been persecuted for such a long period. Hitler and his followers killed ten million Jews but they couldn't destroy the Jewish religion.

In Ezekiel's days the Jews were being forced to live as displaced persons. Today we can study the displaced persons in the Far East to understand their problems.

A full review of this Scripture reveals the tremendous letdown Ezekiel felt when he moved from his mountaintop experience to return to the sad condition of his people.

It is difficult to relate to another person one's encounter with God. In becoming a watchman for God the prophet had to warn of impending attack. He warned about the impending fall of Jerusalem, but the people wouldn't listen.

Ezekiel, and other prophets as well, could not be a mere bystander. He is held accountable to God. He had to approach his assignment with caution.

In another approach, one could view Ezekiel as an actor rather than a spokesman. He was acting out the message God gave him. Yet he was willing to accept this role because he had met God.

Through many signs and symbols God seeks to penetrate our hearts. First, however, we must open our heart to Him.

Singers booked for 2 services

MOREHOUSE — The Wallace Family Singers of St. Louis will be at the Assembly of God Church Sunday to sing at the 11 a.m. worship service and again at a 1:30 p.m. special service, according to the Rev. Kathryn Baughn, pastor.

Dinner will be served at the church at noon.

Securities sales land church in legal hassle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Rex Humbard's Cathedral of Tomorrow and the Ohio Department of Commerce are working on a way to keep the multimillion dollar religious and business empire going in the wake of department demands that the cathedral stop selling securities.

"I doubt very much that they're going to put the church out of business," said Charles Iden, Akron attorney for the cathedral.

Commerce Director Dennis Shaul disclosed Wednesday he had told Humbard that his cathedral must either voluntarily stop selling securities or face court action.

Humbard's organization has sold bonds for Mackinac College, gift annuity plans, life income agreements, and other security deposit agreements, since the 1950s.

Six other states have ordered a halt to the sales. They are Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Oregon, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In addition to the college and the financial transactions, Humbard's enterprises include a girdle factory and a printing and engraving business in Akron, as well as his religious broadcasts from his own studios.

Shaul said he and other department officials visited Akron in October and conducted an audit of the entire organization. "We found it to be in a negative net worth position," he said.

Shaul said the problem now is to find a way to end the securities sales, which both he and Iden agreed had been improper, and keep the organization afloat.

"We have two reasons for wanting to cooperate with them on this," Shaul said. "Because they're a church and because they're a business that is widespread."

Iden said he had proposed a way to alter the cathedral's business transactions to bring them into compliance with the law. He declined to give details, but said Shaul was studying it.

"The thing is that this is the first administration to come along and recognize that this is a problem for many charities and sit down sympathetically and try to work out a solution," Iden said.

"I knew they the securities sales; were improper," Iden said. "But it's difficult for an administrator to understand why he should have to comply with the laws when other charities are doing the same things.

"He (Humbard) copied his literature, contracts and formats from others distributed by other colleges and churches," Iden said. "I know that doesn't excuse it, but he isn't the only one."

Securities Division Chief Bill Case said the department knew of no instance in which anyone had complained of losing money on an investment in Humbard's enterprises.

Native religion of American Indians gaining in respect

NEW YORK (AP) — The native religion of American Indians is gaining increased respect today in the churches that once tried to stamp it out.

Scholars see a particularly timely reason for the change - the need for a deeper reverence for nature as manifested by Indian religion - in the face of modern damaging misuse of the environment.

Declaring that Christian theology is "terribly impoverished when it comes to a doctrine of nature," the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Reist, dean of San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, Calif., predicts:

"There must come a day quite soon when American Indian theology must be represented in the highest councils of Christian theology in the world."

His analysis, contending that Indian tribal religion must be accorded serious church study as one aspect of the ways people have sought to relate to God, came at a recent meeting of Indians and church leaders.

It was held in Estes Park, Colo., by a loosely knit association of Indians and non-Indians from many Protestant denominations called the National Fellowship of Indian workers.

Coming in a period of spreading "dialogues" between Christianity and other religions, the discussions marked a beginning inquiry into the relationship of church teachings and tribal beliefs.

The affair also came at a time when a growing number of denominations have set up special Indian departments, headed by Indians, to bolster church sensitivity to their interests.

But with the church perspective now changing, an Indian clergyman who heads United Methodist Indian work, the Rev. Homer Noley, of New York, says Indian religion may be recognized as "closer to original Christianity" than most American whites realize.

"Our Indian ancestors believed in a spirit world of all things," he noted at the Estes Park gathering.

NCC voices concern for conflict in Ireland

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)— The National Council of Churches has voiced "prayerful concern" for Irish churches and people involved in the struggle in northern Ireland.

In addition, the Council pledged support of churches in the United States in trying to resolve the conflict.

Member denominations of the council urged their "leaders of the churches in this land, which has been greatly benefited by our fellow citizens of Irish ancestry, to facilitate the realization of a just and lasting peace.'.

The Rev. David Bowman, a Jesuit priest and council ecumenical specialist who was on a U.S. church delegation that recently visited Ireland to try to help resolve the problem.

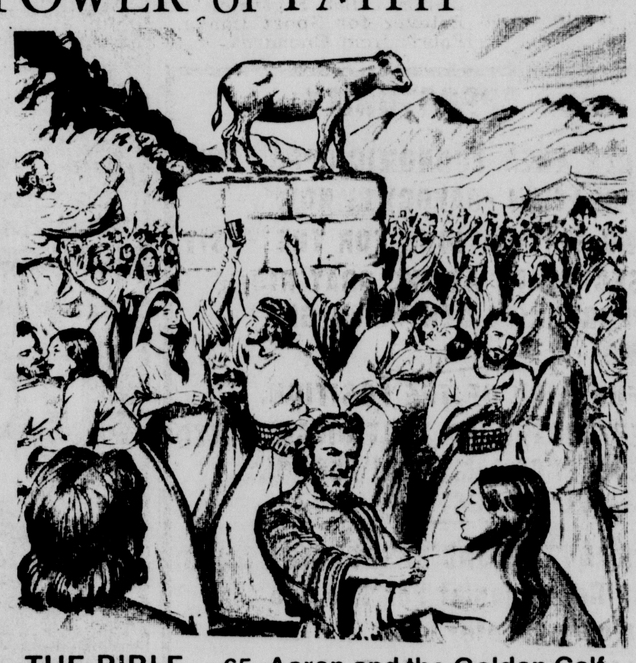
The POWER of FAITH



THE BIBLE 65. Aaron and the Golden Calf

When the children of Israel saw that Moses delayed to come down out of the mount, they gathered together to ask Aaron to make them gods, for they did not know what had become of Moses.

"And Aaron said unto them, Break off the golden earrings, which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me. And all the people brake off the golden earrings which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron."

Exodus 32:2-3.

Aaron then melted the golden earrings in the fire, and from the molten gold he fashioned the people a golden calf. Aaron next built an altar before the graven image and proclaimed the next day a feast day.

Meanwhile, the Lord informed Moses that the people had quickly turned aside from His commandments, and He ordered Moses to leave the mount. Moses came down from the mount carrying the two stone tablets upon which God's commandments had been written.

"And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables."

Exodus 32:16.

The children of Israel would soon have visited upon them God's wrath for breaking the second commandment.

Does your room talk? Rooms often reveal secrets we prefer to conceal. It's especially true of teen-agers. The general scheme of decoration can reflect the degree of maturity of the person. A usually tidy room may suddenly become messy and cluttered. This may be a clue to anxiety. A surface-neat room with disorganized chests of drawers and closets may indicate outward calm but inner confussion. A bare and colorless room can reflect that the boy or girl lacks strength to cope with daily life or school. Adolescents often reveal feelings through the objects they use to decorate rooms and subconsciously they are telling those around what he or she is really like inside.

What is your water really like? Does it reveal itself through unpleasant tastes, chlorine odors, rust stains and bathtub rings? A wonderful change in your life awaits you when you install a water refining unit from Braswell Electric. This appliance will allow you to have clean, clear, soft water from every tap in your home. Get refined water for the good life.

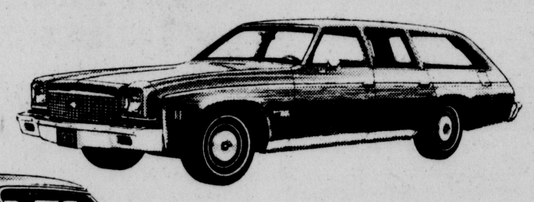
CHEVY BUILDS 'EM FOR THE LONG HAUL!

CHEVELLE WAGON
Perfect for the needs of most traveling Americans. Better built for '73 to see the U.S.A.



SPORTVAN
Big enough to load Old Paint if the Wild West moves you. Otherwise nine people and gear are a snap. You'll be seeing more of 'em in '73, believe us.

VEGA KAMMBACK
This one's ready for still another Vega award. Just right for the small family. Just right for the budget. Tougher than ever.

SUBURBAN
Mom calls it "super cab". And she couldn't be more accurate. Wet bathing suits won't phase its tough vinyl interior. Neither can the eight or nine kids wearing them.

War continues because congress won't confront executive

By STUART SYMINGTON

WASHINGTON -- One of the primary reasons this tragic war continues is because a majority of the Congress has consistently refused to confront the executive branch with obvious inconsistencies in its various statements about Vietnam.

On Oct. 26, Mr. Kissinger told the American people that peace was at hand. Later that same evening, in a campaign speech from Kentucky, President Nixon announced that he would achieve "peace with honor" instead of "peace with surrender."

Clearly these statements conveyed the impression that an agreement had been reached and that within a short time our prisoners would be returned and the war would be over.

We now know that no peace agreement had been reached Oct. 26, and that none has been reached since. In fact, the bombing of North Vietnam has been the heaviest of the war, with the highest United States casualties in planes and airmen; and the North Vietnamese press asserts that our recent bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has caused "the death of hundreds of civilians and the destruction of thousands of dwelling houses."

It was on Oct. 26 also that Mr. Kissinger told the people but a few minor details needed resolving before final peace, making reference to the usual translation difficulties. Among those problems still unresolved, however, were the presence of North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, the function of the Council of Reconciliation, and separate nationhood for South Veitnam.

But these three issues are the ones we have been fighting over since the start of the longest war in the history of the United States.

Despite the now obvious need for more investment of our increasingly limited resources in such problems here at home as poverty, pollution, housing, energy and educational facilities, the President continues to rush billions of dollars of more military equipment in support of the totalitarian regimes of Southeast Asia.

The President's recent veto of two rehabilitation acts caused Marine Lieut. Robert Muller, a Vietnam veteran who is now a paraplegic, to observe that although it was not irresponsible for him, as a platoon commander in Vietnam and adviser to the South Vietnamese Army, to call in air strikes to kill people and destroy villages at heavy cost, it was "irresponsible" to put up the money to give him adequate medical care in a veterans' hospital.

For some nine years I have been warning my colleagues about the growing danger to our economy that is inherent in our continuing unfavorable balance of payments, at first only in the public sector, now in the private sector as well. As the ratio of our assets to our liabilities continues to decline this is causing increasing apprehension in all economic circles, both at home and abroad.

A visit earlier this year to the Far East, including Japan, as well as one last month to Europe, including various countries behind the Iron Curtain, convinced me that, in this nuclear age, everyone realizes that a military attack against the United States would be an act of suicide.

These trips also convinced me that the next great struggle will be an economic war. If true, that bears in significant practical fashion on the great and growing danger of our continuing to pour additional billions of dollars into the Vietnam theater to achieve a military victory against that little country.

The outcome of the "A" game was never really in doubt as the Bulldogs rolled at will over the Tigers but in the "B" game the Bullpups had quite a ball game before they finally edged past the Jr. Tigers by the score of 40- 38.

What's the law?

The case of the cackling husband

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Wilbur was earning a "weekly" salary when he met and married Big Bertha who was earning a big salary running a big business. When she began running Wilbur, however, causing poor henpecked Wilbur to all but cackle in his sleep, he decided to call it quits. He sued to end their marriage on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"She's depriving me of my manliness," he complained in court. "Because she earns more money than I do, every time I try to put my foot down, she steps on it. As a man, I'm supposed to be head of the household, not her."

"Who says so?" was Bertha's answer. "Since I'm the big-money earner in the family, it's obvious that I'm the one who's best able to run things. As a bachelor, Wilbur never had it so good. Consequently he's got no complaint and he's not entitled to a divorce?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant the cackling husband a divorce?

This is how the judge ruled; NO! The judge held that Wilbur's situation was not so unusual to warrant the granting of a divorce. As a matter of fact, observed the judge in effect, his income producing wife was no more of a boss than many wives who merely stay home and take care of the house.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

The believers learned how to walk in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 9:31, LNT)

PRAYER: Lord, while we dream of witnessing to the world, we overlook the opportunity nearby. We see others as witnesses, but not ourselves where we live. Help us to live an evangelistic family life together. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . Amen."

Wage and price controls lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's unexpected lifting of most mandatory wage-price controls already has set off reactions ranging from a stock market surge to dire predictions of a price crunch on wage-earners.

Nixon Thursday abolished the tight mandatory controls except in the food and health industries, along with most of the government machinery for enforcing them. He set up instead a system of voluntary guidelines and asked Congress to extend the standby control authority, expiring April 30, so that the government could move in quickly to halt excessive increases.

In a nutshell, Phase 3 of the Nixon economic program provides that prices may be raised, but the increase should not exceed the increase in costs; wages may be increased without government approval, but for the present, raises are expected to be kept within the 5.5-per-cent guideline in effect since November 1971.

The old Phase 2 standards will be retained for processors and retailers of food, and for doctor, dentist and hospital bills. Those two areas have seen some of the biggest price increases.

In Chicago, Dr. John R. Kernodle, board chairman of the American Medical Association, said Phase 3 discriminates against the health-care professions. He said there is a possibility of "a flight of allied, ancillary and support personnel from the health field...."

The aim of Phase 3, Nixon said, is to cut the inflation rate to 2.5 per cent or less by the end of the year—to keep fighting inflation until the "impact is felt at the local supermarket or corner grocery store."

Except in the reserved areas, large business and labor unions will no longer have to get advance approval for wage and price rises. The looser mandatory controls over construction wage increases also were retained and the President said voluntary efforts to hold down interest rates will continue.

The stock market took off on the announcement, pushing the Dow Jones industrial index 15.35 points above the previous day before settling down for a 5.64-point gain to a new closing high of 1051.70.

Analysts said expectation of higher profits steamed up the market.

But critics in Congress, most of them Democrats, said they fear a surge of inflation that will push prices up faster than wages.

Chairman Wright Patman, DTex., of the House Banking Committee predicted Congress "will make its own independent judgement" as to the terms on which control authority is extended. He said the committee, where the control legislation originated, will begin extensive hearings on the whole stabilization program in about two weeks.

Coroner's jury rules on death of Johnson

CHARLESTON — A Coroner's jury Thursday afternoon ruled Wilbur Force Johnson, 46, of Tuckerman, Ark. died of a gunshot wound in the right side of the chest inflicted by a person or persons unknown.

The jury, composed of Gene Slayton, Roy Bone, Kenny McDowell, Harry Brewer, Don Daughhetee, and Harry Herwig, heard testimony from Mississippi County Coroner Elgin McMikle, Charleston Police Chief Bob Ritchey, Brenda Jones of Cairo, Ill., and Drucella Clark of Charleston.

Coroner McMikle testified he was called to 506 W. Ada St. in Charleston shortly after 6 p.m. Jan. 6. And upon arrival found the body of a Negro male lying on the kitchen floor. After examining the body, McMikle said he found what appeared to be a gunshot wound approximately one half inch in diameter one inch below the nipple of the right chest. A grazed area was found on the right hand and small shot was later removed from the hand.

The coroner said in his opinion the man died of internal injuries, possibly from a ruptured right lung.

Chief Ritchey, next witness called by Prosecuting Attorney W. Clifton Banta, testified he found blood on the living room door and floor and a trail of blood leading to the kitchen where the subject was lying. An empty .38 caliber snub nosed revolver was found on the floor about five feet from the body. According to Ritchey,, no other gun was found in the house.

According to testimony from Brenda Jones, who was in the home at the time of the shooting, Johnson and Mrs. Jeanette Oliver were arguing and fighting over a pistol and a door key to the Oliver residence where the shooting occurred. The argument began in a back bedroom, continued to the living room and later into the kitchen.

Mrs. Jones said Christopher Oliver, Mrs. Oliver's brother, attempted to stop the fighting, but was unable.

"I didn't see who shot him," Mrs. Jones said, however she said she saw Christopher Oliver with a gun after the shooting. And that Oliver left by the front door saying he would be back.

Mrs. Drucella Clark who lives at 504 W. Ada St., directly across from the Oliver home, testified she saw Christopher Oliver leave the house with a long gun and she then called the police.

A first degree murder charge was filed against Christopher Oliver Tuesday and a preliminary hearing has been scheduled for Jan. 17 in Magistrate Court.

To family- type farmers

Operating loans available

COLUMBIA — John O. Foster, state director of Farmers Home Administration, said today that although FHA can no longer make emergency loans family- type farmers are still eligible for operating loans. At this time funds for operating loans appear adequate to serve all eligible applicants.

The interest rate for operating loans is 5 7/8 per cent. These loans can be used to refinance secured operating debts, annual operating expenses -- such as fuel, seed, spray material, repair, labor and other annual expenses. Farmers can also purchase livestock and essential farm machinery with an FHA operating loan.

Portions of operating loans can be repaid in a period of up to seven years. Repayments on expenditures used for refinancing and purchasing capital goods can be repaid in a period of up to seven years, and in some cases the last installment can be a balloon payment which can be renewed for up to five years.

An applicant, to be eligible for an operating loan, must be 21 years of age, unable to obtain credit elsewhere, have the experience and ability to carry out a successful system of farming, and cannot operate a larger than family-type farm.

A family - type farmer is defined by the Farmers Home Administration as an operator of a farm which will provide substantial income by itself, and the farm income plus income from non-farm sources will provide the family with a reasonable standard of living. Labor is furnished by the farmer operator and his immediate family; however, up to one full-time hired hand can be authorized in his operation. The acreage varies from 80 up to 800 acres depending upon the system of farming being followed and the labor and capital input required.

FHA cannot advance more than $50,000 to any one individual. During the period borrowers have their loans with FHA, they are encouraged to obtain as much needed credit from other sources as possible, when it is available to them in terms they can repay.

Eligibility for an operating loan is determined by the FHA County Committee. Bobby R. Hicks of Essex, Scott County FHA County Supervisor, said the local county committee is composed of Johnnie L. Blissett, of Oran Route One, Albert Peters, Jr. of Bertrand Route One, and Bill V. Arington of East Prairie Route One.

Interested applicants should contact the FHA County Office located at 106 E. Center St. Sikeston, Telephone 471-1014.

Clippard named Dexter Man of Year

DEXTER — Percy Clippard, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, received the Man of the Year award Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce installation banquet at the Catholic Hall.

Box Hendrix of the Cape Girardeau Chamber of Commerce presented the award to Clippard.

Shirlene Jordan, chairman of the beautification committee, was presented a city beautification award by Jerry Shirley of Jefferson City, Community Betternment Program specialist.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick was introduced by Lloyd Williams.

Speaking about Dexter, Kirkpatrick said, "As past president of Chambers of Commerce in Warrensburg and Windsor and former director of the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce, I am aware of the great good Chambers of Commerce can do, and from what I have been able to find out, the Dexter Chamber of Commerce knows what hard work is and its members are not afraid of it.

"The industrial development committee did an outstanding job to attract Arvin Industries to Dexter, Kirkpatrick said. "To continue to attract industries, Dexter will have to continue to make itself more and more attractive, and I'm sure you will"

On state matters, Kirkpatrick said he believed there was no need for a constitutional convention to change Missouri's constitution.

"This document (the constitution) still provides a sound and workable basis for our government," he said.

James C. Kirkpatrick

"Advocates of a sound and workable basis for our government," he said. "Advocates of a constitutional convention have failed to show me any compelling reasons why we should reject our present constitution."

He said the advocates of a constitutional convention fail to recognize the expense of such conventions.

"The cost of such a convention seems to be one of the best arguments against it. Proponents contended it would only cost $2.5 million, instead it cost the Illinois taxpayers $13.5 million to adopt a new constitution," he said.

He added the improvements would not be worth the price.

Kirkpatrick also said he was in favor of a shield law to protect journalists. One is expected to be introduced in the Senate next week.

He listed the reorganization of state government and how the state spends federal revenue sharing funds as two of the most important tasks of the 1973 legislature.

Kirkpatrick said he recommended capital improvements for funds for a new records center. The present building is "totally inadequate and is costing more than $37,000 a year to rent," he said.

He called statewide voter registration the most important improvement to be made in modernizing Missouri's "archiac" election laws.

He reported 76 Missouri counties are without countywide voter registration.

Outgoing president Louis Jones spoke briefly of his year at the chamber helm and presented certificates to members for service with the chamber.

Receiving certificates were:

NOTED AND PASSES ...

We're always happy to pass on scuttlebutt from our newspaper compatriots, like the following:

At the Washington, D. C. Press Club, the topic of conversation was Charles A. Tuller, the government employee who allegedly murdered a bank executive and a policeman in Arlington, Virginia, and then later killed an airline ticket agent in Houston, Texas, while hijacking a plane to Cuba. And the question arose; what would the Government do with the $2,200.00 monthly paycheck due Tuller on November 3, the day of his resignation from the government service. To which one cynic guessed: "They will probably mail it to Cuba."

Now that our national legislature has been elected for the next two to six years, depending upon their political office, we have a suggestion; we have heard much about the need to clean up the air, and water, and soil. How about adding another "clean up" to that list; namely, clean up the government in Washington, by removing from office all hate- America extremists, and radicals. Why should we have people on the government payroll whose one aim in life is to destroy the government?

YOU CAN SHOP
A LA CARTE NOW

Take your modern discount department store, which has been around quite a while now, combine it with the time- honored tradition of selling by mail through catalogues, and you've got the latest wrinkles in the world of merchandising.

Springing up around the country, especially in small and medium - sized towns, is a new type of store.

Patrons don't shop in the store, in the usual sense. They have previously received a catalogue which enables them to browse through selections in their homes. When they have decided on a purchase, they go to the local catalogue showroom, where they can inspect the actual item, fill out an order and take it with them.

For the customer, the convenience is obvious. Advantages to the seller include, for one thing, the need for fewer clerks. Also, losses from shoplifting have reportedly been slashed almost to zero from the 6.5 per cent experienced in conventional stores, since all stocks are kept in the back and only one sample of each item is displayed on the floor.

Top names in this growing field include Best Products of Richmond, Va., Modern Merchandising, operating out of Minneapolis, and Jewelcor, Inc., of New York.

Indicative of the impact of this new form of merchandizing is the recent announcement by Jewelcor and W. T. Grant, one of the nation's leading mass retailers, of a joint venture to open some 30 catalogue showrooms in the coming year under the name Granjewel.

To coin a phrase, this is another new idea whose time has come — as any groaning mailman who has carried a load of hefty catalogues can attest.

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks a plumber gets tired of hearing:

"You plumbers are getting like doctors — you hate to make house calls anymore."

"Sam Turnjoint, the only difference between you and Jesse James is that Jesse had to use a gun to get his."

"I've got an unemployed brother-in-law who is looking for an easy way to make a living, Sam. Could you put him on as a helper?"

"As your physician, Sam, I suggest we use a little common sense in our business relations. Remember, I can raise my fees too."

"Just because I flunked you out of high school your first year, Sam, you're not going to refuse to come and fix my leaky toilet, are you? Please Sam, your old teacher needs you. Can't we let bygones be bygones?"

"You say you want Sam, my son, the plumber? Can you call back later, please? He's in consultation now."

"Why is it you always forget some of your tools, but you never forget to send your bill?"

"Yeah, I'm a real old-timer, Sam. I can remember way back when I was young and plumbers made about a dollar an hour, and most of them had calluses all over their hands."

"Sam has been spending the winters in Florida so long he wouldn't know how to fix frozen pipes anymore."

"Yes, it's a real desirable neighborhood to move into. We've got three internists living here, a surgeon, a well-todo undertaker, a banker, a retired admiral — and two plumbers. But don't get your hopes up too high. The plumbers won't accept emergency calls except at their offices."

"Hello, is this the plumber? A pipe in our kitchen has burst and the water on the floor is already six inches deep. When could I make an appointment with you?"

"Sam, as your wife you know I don't like to interfere in your business, but I think you're creating some resentment in your clients by driving up to their houses in your new limousine. Don't you think it would be more diplomatic to go back to the old station wagon?"

"Congratulations, Sam. You're the first plumber the bank has ever had on its board of directors."

"My mommy sent me here, Mr. Turnjoint. She says she knows you're far too busy to come yourself, but would you mind lending us a big wrench and we'll fix it ourselves?"

"I tell you I can't see you any more often, Sam. My neighbors are bound to suspect something if they see a plumber go into a house more than once a month. That never happens."

"Yes, my son has decided to become a plumber instead of a dentist. He can't stand the thought of staring into people's mouths all day. Besides, as a plumber he'll make more money and have shorter hours."

"Never mind coming now to fix my flooded basement, Sam. The kids like it that way, and we've decided to keep it as a swimming pool."

MONITORING FUND SOLICITATIONS

A Rock Port lawmaker plans to introduce a bill in the Missouri General Assembly which would require all organizations soliciting money in more than three counties to register with the Secretary of State. More important, the organization would have to disclose how its funds are spent - how much for administration, research, education and the like.

The proposal is long overdue.

There are many organizations soliciting money for worthwhile causes. But it's a fact that some of them are so loaded with administrative and other costs that only a relatively small percentage of the public's donations trickle down to the actual programs.

Too often an individual gives to an agency, but never knows how much of his or her contribution is going to be of real help.

The proposed solicitation regulations' bill is a sound idea.

It would be to the advantage of all Missourians to have all organizations which solicit funds, over more than three counties, give a full accounting on how all their funds are spent. It's probable, we believe, that the disclosure of some agencies would raise a few eyebrows because of high percentage of administrative, campaign and other extraneous costs.

AS THE DRAFT WINDS DOWN

If you are of draft age -- or have a son approaching draft age - you need to know the latest twists of draft policy, reports U. S. News & World Report. Even with inductions to end soon, the draft will call some in 1973, and require others to register and be tested.

As to who is vulnerable now, the Pentagon plans are induct up to 10,000 young men next year -- with none to be called in January and all inductions to end next June 30. About half of these 10,000 would be taken from the 1972 pool of draftable youths, born before 1953, who have current draft- lottery numbers below 95. The other 5,000 if called would be selected from those who reach age 19 in 1972 and have lottery numbers no higher than 30.

After drafting stops, next June at the latest, youths turning 18 in 1973 still will have some obligations -- and may even be inducted into reserve units.

It is pointed out that:

— All young men, for example, still must register with their local Selective Service boards, sometime during the 60-day period between a month before their eighteenth birthday and a month after. This goes on indefinitely.

— Draft lotteries will continue to be held every year, too. probably in January or February, for youths who reach 19 during that year.

— What happens in each case will depend on the individual's lottery number -- a priority number determined by the order in which his birth date is called in the lottery. If his number is high, he will automatically go on standby, without taking any examinations. But, if it is low, he must take the regular armed-forces physical and mental exams to pinpoint his classification.

—No one will be inducted into the active military services after next June 30, except in case of a national emergency declared by Congress or the President. But Defense Secretary Melvin Laird now speculates that some draft-age youths with 1-A classifications may be inducted into the National Guard or the Army, Navy or Air Force Reserves later on if their volunteers continue to decline. This would involve weekend training and summer camp.

Why do refrigerator manufacturers use such cheap quality trim on these appliances?

Considerable research has been done on materials used in refrigerators because many items stored in this appliance will stain or pit metal and plastic, regardless of the quality used. Fruit juices, milk and medicines will stain or pit most surfaces, regardless of quality, Spills should be wiped away immediately. Frequent thorough washing and drying will help keep trims looking like new.

My washing machine is practically a museum piece and I'd like to replace it but the more I shop the more confused I get. Where can I go for help?

First, find a reliable appliance dealer, one who has served neighbors, friends or relatives well. Describe the kind of laundry you have; for instance, heavily soiled clothes, football uniforms, etc. call for a heavy duty cycle and a pre-wash or soak setting. If most of you laundry is permanent press, the dealer can show you models that offer cycles that avoid unnecessary wrinkling. If the water pressure is low at your house, the dealer should know this, too. By giving the dealer your special needs, he can select models that will do the best job for you. Gas and electric utilities can also be helpful if you have wiring or hot water problems.

THE WAY UP

More than any other single agency, Pan American World Airways has been a leader in making the airplane a vehicle of mass international air travel. It has helped to encourage human mobility on a worldwide scale, thus building knowledge and understanding among all peoples. But Pan Am, like all airlines today, has its problems.

Mr. Najeeb E. Halaby, president of Pan Am, touched on a few of them when he declared in an Address, "... I think we're going to have to figure out some way of creating procedures for more responsive and sensitive and quicker adjustment of fares. When we consider congestion and pollution costs and changes in demand and investment requirements, it seems to me that we have a terrific pricing problem on our hands. On labor costs we are all engaged in trying to seek an equitable but fairly dynamic balance between what the man who works earns and what the man who manages garners for his shareholders ... I think if we could even solve half of these industry - wide problems, and if we can expect ... a more favorable economic and regulatory climate, the airlines could look to the Seventies with a lot of confidence."

The point Mr. Halaby makes obvious is that Pan Am and other scheduled air carriers can move through the present temporary period of adversity and on to even higher levels of service if the public, the labor unions and the government regulators recognize that U. S. airlines are taxpaying, private enterprises that must pay their way and earn a profit.

A waggish psychiatrist friend tells of a patient in psychoanalysis who swore off LSD because he was afraid to expand his mind while having his head shrunk.

There would be a lot better bargaining for peace in Southeast Asia if we used the same tactics we did in Germany in both World Wars and in Japan. We gave them so much punishment in their capital cities and in their principal towns, they asked for peace unconditionally. In our Vietnam war we have held back blasting Hanoi although the Communists have never held back in firing rockets into Saigon. Our Democratic nominee for President was willing to make peace on any terms. And even President Nixon, fearing the McGovern tactics, has withdrawn so much of our armed forces we are no longer a threat to the Communists who do not need peace unless they can get more territory. Yes, we had hoped there would be a peace agreement arranged by Dr. Kissinger, whom we admire, but we are glad that he and President Nixon are not willing to let the Communists dictate the terms. We had hoped and prayed that our prisoners of war would be home for Christmas or very shortly thereafter. But we are glad that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong are not telling us what it takes to get peace. Why don't we give them the hell our dear old Harry Truman would have, had he been President the last eight years?

DISARMING OUR COUNTRY

Disarmament negotiations are currently underway in Geneva, Switzerland, between the United States and the Soviet Union. These SALT II talks are a real threat to the security of our country, especially in view of the unwise concessions our government has already made in the SALT I treaties.

Recently Senator Henry Jackson of Washington warned of the dangers of SALT II. He stated that "the first task of SALT II must be to design a posture that takes account of the large Soviet strategic reserve force and impose limits that would reduce that reserve."

Senator Jackson pointed out that unsound negotiating policies left the U.S. at a real disadvantage in the SALT I talks. U.S. negotiators originally held that we must have the right to substitute sea-based for land- based intercontinental missiles and that a low ceiling must be imposed on the number of Soviet launchers. But in the eagerness to obtain a treaty, both of these provisions were dropped, without corresponding concessions on the part of the Soviet Union. As a result, the Soviets now have a 50 per cent advantage in intercontinental ballistic missiles and submarine launched ballistic missiles.

Senator Jackson urged that the SALT II negotiators should ensure that "in any future treaty the United States would not be limited to levels of intercontinental strategic forces inferior to the levels granted to the Soviet Union."

This is the very minimum that our negotiators should insist upon. For the sake of the security of the United States, the administration should refuse to compromise on this vital issue. HLH

Why Cripple Probes?
Drive On Again To Kill House Committee Planning Probe of Urban Guerrilla Terrorists

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON-- This nation is rife with bands of revolutionary riflemen, specialists in explosives and experts in strategic industrial sabotage.

They are dedicated revolutionists proving urban guerrilla warfare-- witness, one sniper on one rooftop in tragic New Orleans-- can be as effective as Mao's early rural marauders.

At the moment there is one congressional committee which can probe these avowed revolutionists, some of whom publish ghoulish tabloids on cop- killing fetishes. Not only can the committee publicly X-ray these bands, which range from five or six terrorists to 150 dedicated, self- proclaimed killers, and reveal the inner workings of extremist political parties such as the pro- Arab terrorist Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party (SWP), but it can put their leaders on the televised stand for all the world to see and hear so there can be no doubt of their rituals, some lethal, some political.

I refer here to the House (of Representatives) Committee on Internal Security. It is the successor to the House Un- American Activities Committee (HUAC) which was not always adept, but was always inclusive in its probes of Soviet espionage rings and infiltration of strategic unions and of those who, financed by the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party, promoted an alleged proletarian culture and network of personality cults here for decades.

Thus HUAC became the target of intense attack from precisely those whom you would expect to develop venom over exposures of Communists and their fronts.

Now these relics of propagandists from an antediluvian political era have transferred their enmity to the new Internal Security Committee. Some 365 law professors from 94 universities have circulated a petition calling for the abolishment of the committee- which costs the nation a rather minimum $525,000 annually, judging by the group's 1972 budget. At the moment, directed by its 46- year- old chairman, Missouri Rep. Richard Ichord, it is investigating the Dept. of Commerce and probably the Civil Service Commission.

Despite the professorial attack, the committee hardly appears intent on proving these federal agencies are directed by Mrs. Mao out of Peking. The committee wants to know-- and the nation should know-- why a killer such as air hijacker Charles Tuller-- now in Cuba after having killed a policeman and a bank official and an airline employe checking tickets at the Houston airport late last year-- was hired by the Commerce Department. Especially when so much was known of his previous revolutionary activities. Further, how did Tuller get himself into so high a "critical-sensitive" federal executive position?

It would be worth the entire $525,000 to find all the answers in the Tuller case.

Yet the professorial petitioners, who crop up regularly at the beginning of each congressional session, say there is little for the committee to do-- and it would be unconstitutional to do it anyway.

Well, there are the Trotskyite Socialist Workers Party, the pro- Peking Workers World Party (WWP), and all their fronts== some of which sound mighty violent. Chairman Ichord says he wants to look into them.

These parties, the SWP and its splinter WWP, are agitating, for example, for the destruction of Israel. They call for collaboration with Palestinian terrorists. They have been charged with anti-Zionist virulence akin to anti-Semitism. SWP literature has mocked those who have wept for the slain Israel athletes at Munich and for the 25 tourists machine- gunned down at Israel's Lydda Airport.

They denounce those who protest the Soviet's head tax on Jewish intellectuals seeking to emigrate to Israel.

The SWP is a small "party" headquartered in New York-- not more than three or four hundred members. The Workers World Party, tough street actionists, reportedly have headquarters in this D.C.- Maryland area, in Milwaukee, in Chicago, and in New York.

Though the SWP has but a handful of young members, it was able to spend tens of thousands of dollars in the 1972 presidential campaign. It ran successful drives here and in 21 states and rolled up some 65,000 votes. Incidentally, the Communist Party- U.S.A. itself spent considerable sums campaigning here and in 14 states. From what sources do these funds spring?

And there are the underground "Weather People" who the federal authorities believe still are dynamiting key defense installations and military targets. And what of the strange groups openly dedicated to violence such as the black separatist Republic of New Africa long active in "cop- fighting"?

What of the Afro- American Liberation Army? True, it consists of only a handful of men and women and it is led from exile by Eldridge Cleaver. But it is on record as calling for the killing of cops. It has been linked with the cold- blooded slaying of New York City policemen amid gay neurotic prancing. Its newspaper, "Right On," has one editorial policy-- kill the police.

The "Liberation Army," according to the FBI, "has been directly linked to killings and assaults of police officers, armed robberies, and airplane hijackings." Its slogan calls for underground urban guerrilla warfare in the U.S. And it takes only one rifleman on one rooftop to stun a city.

These are the arenas into which the House Internal Security Committee seeks to move. Why should anyone say it nay?

Certainly not to save $525,000, a sum which is looted daily from the government. Time has come for some old professors to forget ancient feuds and primordial political legends.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Black September's Plot For Tragedy in Tel Aviv

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON-- The Black September terrorists, who planned the Munich massacre of Israeli athletes, are now plotting to hijack an airliner and crash it into the heart of bustling Tel Aviv.

The plot has been picked up by intelligence agencies, which monitor the secret radio bands used by the Arab terrorists. The same intelligence sources intercepted similar ominous messages shortly before fanatics machine- gunned the Tel Aviv airport and, again, before terrorists staged the Munich tragedy.

In the earlier instances, the messages were vague about where the terrorists would strike and what exactly they planned to do. The latest messages about crash- diving an airliner into Tel Aviv have been more specific.

Among others, American security officials have tipped off Rep. John Murphy, D— N.Y., who has written to President Nixon about the Arab plot against Tel Aviv. Murphy will cite the bizarre scheme as added evidence of the need for a stringent antihijacking bill.

Murphy has introduced a bill which would compel the United States to bar commercial planes from any nation that refused to prosecute a hijacker and return the pirated plane and ransom at once.

--OFFENSIVE URGED--

American military advisers have urged President Thieu to mount a new offensive across the South Vietnamese border into neighboring Laos.

They have asked him to follow up the saturation bombing of the North with a strike against the Boloven Plateau in southern Laos. This is known to be a major staging area for North Vietnamese attacks.

The American advisers promised, if Thieu would launch an offensive, to support it with U.S. air power. But the South Vietnamese army was so badly battered during last year's Communist offensive that Thieu isn't prepared to send it back into action.

Although most losses have been replaced and the army is back to full strength, the discipline, training and morale of the troops are still lagging. Not only are the replacements green, but the cease- fire negotiations have made all troops cautious. They don't want to be the last to die before a cease- fire is declared.

Meanwhile, the Saigon government is drafting men at the rate of about 18,000 a month, but deserters are leaving the Army in almost equal numbers.

--WASHINGTON WHIRL--

POLICE BRUTALITY-- Over the past year, the FBI referred nearly 2,900 police-brutality cases to the Justice Department for prosecution. Yet only 86 cases ever made it into the courts and less than half- a- dozen policemen were actually convicted. The Justice Department explained to us that it's difficult to identify violators and prove intent, that juries are also reluctant to convict policemen. But civil liberties lawyers charge that the civil rights laws are woefully inadequate and poorly enforced.

BRASS RING-- Today we award the brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry- G- Round, to Arlen Fulwiler, a Montgomery College, Md., teacher. He learned that Ernest Newman, a 50- year- old mail carrier for the college, was about to be fired for illiteracy. Fulwiler quietly began teaching Newman the fundamentals of reading and writing. Not only was Newman's job saved, but he told us joyfully: "I'm learning how to write my address and I can read through the whole of a book Mr. Fulwiler gave me. I wouldn't give up my lessons for anything in the world." Commented Fulwiler modestly: "The payment is just his face."

B- 52 LOSSES-- We recently reported that the Pentagon has not announced the total number of B- 52s lost during the massive bombing of North Vietnam. The information was given to us by a reliable source who had access to the tightly restricted strike reports. What he told us was accurate at the time. But by the time our story reached print, all but one of the 16 B-52 losses had been announced. The last loss was announced shortly thereafter. Not released, however, was the news that half- a- dozen additional big bombers were so badly damaged they can't fly and some can't be repaired.

TWO PER CENT LOANS-- The White House decided to end 26 years of two per cent loans under the Rural Electrification Administration without telling the two bureaucrats most concerned-- Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and REA head David Hamil. Both men have grumbled that the White House first failed to consult them, then ordered Butz's office to put out the bad news about the end of the loans. The low- interest loans were the joy of farmers but a bug- bear to the politically strong, investor- owned power companies, which backed President Nixon during the election. The loans had provided 25 million customers in 26 states with cheap electricity.

Reorganization bill drafted

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A state reorganization bill, totaling 27 pages compared with a 542-page project now under study in the state Senate, has been drafted by Rep. Harold L. Volkmer, D-Hannibal.

Volkmer said today his streamlined version, which carries out similar functions as one introduced in the Senate by Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, will be introduced Tuesday.

It carries out the principles of the Little Hoover Commission, which studied government reorganization, Volkmer said. He was on the commission.

The major difference from the seven-pound Senate bill is that the Senate bill gives detailed assignment of duties for each department head and contains enacting statutes for each agency.

Volkmer's bill deals mainly with transfer of departments and provides that the legislature's research staff assemble technical changes in bills revising each agency's statutory authority.

Volkmer says his bill uses techniques in six states which have enacted reorganization bills. They are Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Michigan, North Carolina and Wisconsin.

As in Cason's bill, Volkmer's bill provides guidelines for 13 departments:

Agriculture; Conservation; Consumer Affairs; Regulation and Licensing; Elementary and Secondary Education; Higher Education; Highways; Labor and Industrial Relations; Natural Resources; Mental Health; Public Safety; Revenue; Social Services; and Transportation.

As in Cason's bill, Volkmer's bill provides that the governor will appoint the department heads, who in turn would appoint heads of divisions. But personnel would not be frozen by law into departmental subpunits and divisions, but can be shifted as workloads require, Volkmer said.

Both bills call for certain appointments to be made by the governor.

Fewer than half as many agencies would report directly to the governor under his bill as under the Senate bill, Volkmer said. Under his bill, he said, the number would be 29 compared with 61 under the Senate bill.

Volkmer said his measure directs that the Office of Administration — part of the reorganization plan that will be implemented this year under a law passed last session — assist departments and agencies with "the myriad necessary details of restructuring such as reassignments of building space, and transfers of personnel, funding and equipment."

"The Senate measure," Volkmer said, "uses the Office of Administration as a 'catchall'" and transfers to it numerous functions of operating agencies, along with its staff functions, making it a "hybrid" agency.

New welfare head named

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond, a Republican, named Democrat Berg Shulimson as new director of the State Division of Welfare today.

Shulimson is the third Democrat appointed to a major state office in the Bond administration.

Shulimson, 42, is the former executive secretary of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare, with offices in Jefferson City. He will succeed Proctor N. Carter, who retired last month as director after 27 years.

Carter said today he thought Bond made "an excellent selection" in naming Shulimson. Carter said Shulimson is "knowledgeable in the field of welfare service and will make a fine director."

Carter, who was appointed director in 1945, was described by former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes as one of the most effective state administrators.

Carter said today the Division of Welfare now serves about 340,000 persons from offices in every count of the state. Its annual budget has grown to about $335 million. The division has about 5,000 employes, Carter said.

Democrats Theodore McNeal and Harry Wiggins were named to top positions by the young Republican governor. Wiggins was named general counsel of the Public Service Administration and McNeal was named president of the St. Louis Police Board.

Charles Dickey of Mexico has served as acting director since Carter resigned.

Shulimson holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Buffalo and a masters in social welfare from the University of Pittsburg. He also studied at Cornell University.

He is a member of the American Society of Planning Officials, the National Association of Social Workers and the Academy of Certified Social Workers.

College News

COLUMBIA-- Judy Kay Stroup of Benton is among students at University of Missouri- Columbia who have been selected for listing in the 1972- 73 issue of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. She is majoring in home economics.

A clean, young contemporary look marks the latest collection at New Attitude. Devoted to double knits in a near-classic vein, brown and white checks and plaids show up in striking ways that will go right into spring. The short wrap coat (left) tops wide-cuffed pants and coordinates with a blazer, skirt and shirt jacket. All in a great "mix" with each other or teamed with brown or white solid skirts and pants. Ice-cream colored gingham checkered brushed acrylic (right) is everyone's favorite blazer, wide-cuffed pants and long skirt. Mixed or matched with a Chanel-like sweater set they are a wardrobe in themselves. Or try a V-necked vest over a soft turtleneck sweater with a checked flip skirt. Add a little flowered shirt and you're off. These Russ designs of separates are in soft pastel and soft fluffy fabrics.

Fear is real to children

Everyone is born with fear; it's nature's way of protecting us from danger. Webster defines fear as "an unpleasant and often strong emotion caused by anticipation or awareness of danger".

Babies instinctively fear falling and loud noises, but as they grow older, they learn other kinds of fears. Some are taught by cautious adults, like "never poke fingers into electric outlets", or "never run into the street", etc. Other fears show up as one's imagination and thinking ability grow. Most small children have some fears that seem ridiculous to grown-ups, but they are "real" to the youngster.

Fear of the dark is very common in childhood. Some ways to help the problem is to give the child extra attention before bedtime. Read or tell a nonstimulating story. They don't need to hear about witches and beasts right then. If he asks for a light or to leave the door open, it's best to allow it until his fears subside. Above all, reassure him that you will be nearby to care for any need that arises and that he will wake up safe and sound. Some are afraid that sleeping is like dying.

Some five or six- year-olds enjoy scary fairy tales. It is almost as if they enjoy being frightened in the safety of a storybook, where everything always seems to end happily ever after. This make believe danger may help children face some of the frightening realities of life, but those under five can't always tell what is real and what's a fairy tale.

Some children need help to express their fears and feelings. Just talking it out goes along way toward putting them in control of their fears.

Games, make believe play, singing, carrying that special toy can be ways children conquer fears.

There's no formula to overcome each fear, because so much depends on the individual and the situation. A few basic tips might include:

Even the silliest fear is real to the child. Don't laugh at it. Give immediate comfort when a child is frightened. When the crisis is past, talk about what frightened the child. Go with the child to see what frightens him, but don't rush him. Try to help him play out his fears.

Ann Landers

Nocturnal fantasies in sleep not real Says Ann

Dear Ann Landers: Like millions of others in this country I am fed up to the teeth with Women's Lib. I'm the owner of a business and sick and tired of the heat I'm getting to hire dames to do a man's job. Equal Opportunity and Fair Employment Practices, they call it. Well, what about Equal Opportunity and some Fair Employment Practices for me? I've got my life's savings in this business and I think I should have the right to say who I want working for me.

I read a while back about a 48- year- old woman from Titusville, Florida, who wanted to be a telephone lineman-- excuse me, linewoman. She accidentally cut a high voltage power line with a pair of pliers and was burned to a crisp.

When are women going to learn that they don't belong every place? You sound like a level- headed skirt who knows the score. Tell those bleeding hearts, will you, please?--- I Have Rights, Too

Dear I.H.R.: Women DON'T belong every place but the example you dredged up to illustrate the point was a poor one. I remember when the Titusville woman was electrocuted, but accidents do happen, and hundreds of male lineworkers have met similar fates.

As more women move into men's jobs we will see how well or how poorly they do. There will always be some women who want to do heavy, masculine- type work, and I say, let 'em do it. If a male, on the other hand, wants to do female- type work, that's all right with me, too.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me how much of the talking a person does in his sleep makes sense? My husband used to kid me about the things I said and we made a big joke of it. But it's not funny anymore.

I know I talk in my sleep because I wake myself up. But I don't remember what I said. I just know I was talking. Now my husband is becoming upset because I am naming people and places and making intimate references to some of the attractive men in our crowd.

I swear by everything holy that I have not been unfaithful, but my husband is beginning to have his doubts because of my frequent references to certain people in my sleep. Or so he says.

Please tell me, Ann, is it possible to have fantasies in one's sleep? Or when a person mentions names, does it mean more than that?--- Awake Nights Over Dreams

Dear Awake: Merely because you mention a man's name in your sleep does not mean you had anything to do with him. Some people have nocturnal fantasies about movie or TV stars, and they've never even met them. They dream about them, talk to them in their sleep and have a lovely time between midnight and dawn. All imaginary, of course. So tell your husband that when he hears you talking, to roll over and go to sleep. It doesn't mean a thing.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I were both born and raised in this town. We grew up with the same crowd. One of the girls was widowed last year. She is only 44. Another fellow lost his wife three months ago. These two people know each other but I don't think they realize they might be the perfect pair. Perhaps if a few of us girls start to pair them up for dinner parties, they might "find each other." Right? My husband says "Wrong!" What do YOU say, Ann?--- Cincinnati Cupid

Dear Cupid' If you want to queer a young widow's chances for all time, just start fixing her up with somebody she knows. If you want to do your friend a favor, fix her up with a new face-- preferably from out of town.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers' booklet, "Booze and You-- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to this newspaper with your request.

Fun thought of first when buying toys

NEW YORK (AP) — Fun rather than education should be the primary function of a toy, insists Jerry Wood, who has been designing toys for more than 10 years.

"If kids enjoy a toy they'll learn from it," says the industrial designer who has three young customers for his products in his own family. "But educational toys have become such an 'in' thing that parents sometimes forget the real purpose of toys is entertainment."

Children live in a world of adult authority, and toys represent a child's own world, a world he can control, Wood points out. Thus any toy that gives the child mastery over environment — an environment of make-believe — is educational in that it promotes the child's developing ego and self-expression.

"To get the right toy for the right person you have to know the kid — his needs, desires and interests," Wood explains. "For instance, my 8-year-old daughter is athletic and we give her bicycles, boxing gloves, physical activity toys.

"But another daughter, 9, is interested in fashion, likes to dress up, use makeup; we give her things like a fashion doll with a lot of clothes. And," he goes on, "our 4-year-old daughter likes big baby dolls and she goes around doing various things she thinks mothers should do with a baby."

If you don't know the child, he adds, books are a basic gift for all ages. For toddlers a safe choice is pull toys, playthings that can be taken apart and put back together and some simple games and puzzles.

"The parent should participate in the child's play, though not dominate it," Wood advises. "It should be like you're one of his friends. The parent should know who his child is, how he thinks, how he is developing. It's the parent's responsibility to guide that development."

Wood, who designs toys for manufacturers along with partners Harry Farmlett and Tony Barsanti, believes the quality of toys has improved in the past few years.

"Toys used to be gimmicky and people would buy anything and pay any price," he says. "With the rise of consumerism and concern of both manufacturers and stores in having a good product there is more emphasis on how well it's made.

"We spend a lot of time trying to answer the question, what's the kid going to do with the toy. You have to anticipate any possibility but kids are pretty ingenious and you have to make sure the toy is safe under any circumstances."

In designing toys the first step is to decide what age group it is aimed at, what material will be used and the price category.

"Under $5 is where the market is," Wood notes. "I don't think there is any reason a toy should be expensive to be good. You can get a good toy for 98 cents and a child can get just as much fun out of it as from a $15 truck that goes up and down hills, does somersaults and whistles Yankee Doodle Dandy."

Route K approved

The Missouri State Highway Commission has given its tentative approval for the relocation of approximately a quarter- mile of Route K in Illmo.

The plan would provide a new two-lane pavement from Route N on the north southward to near Hickory Street.

The new section of highway would begin on Route N about 500 feet east of the Scott City - Illmo city limits line (State Street). It would then travel directly south over the railroad tracks to a connection with marked Route N at Hickory Street in Illmo. The plan calls for a grade separation bridge to carry traffic over the St. Louis - Southwestern and the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks.

The Highway Commission's provisional approval for the project was given after extensive studies were made in the area covering highway needs, costs of construction, facilitation of traffic movement, and environmental concerns.

A location public hearing will be held in the community building of the Illmo Housing Authority on First Street in Illmo on Jan. 16, at 1:30 p.m. Area residents are invited to attend the hearing to express their views regarding the project.

TWO GOOD ORATORS

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — A local youth was destined to win the American Legion oratorical contest held here. It couldn't have been any other way — his name is Dan L. Webster.

Webster, whose namesake, Daniel Webster, was one of the greatest U.S. statesmen and orators of the 1800s, received a gold medal and a $25 Savings Bond for winning the contest. He spoke on "Our Living Constitution," which was one of the original Webster's favorite topics.

Abbott bound over

NEW MADRID — Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth Thursday ordered Johnny Abbott, 22, of Clarkton bound over to Circuit Court on two felonious stealing charges.

Bonds for Abbott, who recently was released on felony charges by Dunklin County authorities, were set at $2,500 on each charge.

Abbott is accused in connection of a theft on Nov. 1 of five bales of cotton valued at $1,000 and stolen from Kenneth Carlisle of Risco. He also is charged with theft on Oct. 29 of 250 bushels of soybeans valued at $900, stolen from the John Moser farm.

Circuit court action is pending against Jerry Wayne Allen, 25, of Parma who is charged with possession of stolen property allegedly connected with the theft.

Oil released for hospital

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The federal Office of Emergency Preparedness informed Gov. Christopher S. Bond today that 24,000 gallons of fuel oil have been released for the state hospital at Fulton.

The 1,365-patient hospital was cut down to a four-day fuel supply after the city of Fulton shut off the hospital's natural gas supply at noon Wednesday.

Since then the hospital has been using a reserve supply of fuel to heat the multiple-building complex.

That supply would have been exhausted about 9 p.m. tonight.

Representatives of the governor's office met twice yesterday with representatives of the Missouri Adjutant General's Disaster Operations Office and federal officials were notified of the fuel shortages.

Officials say the crisis has been temporarily alleviated with the release of the 24,000 gallons of fuel oil.

State officials said, however, they are still seeking additional supplies of fuel. Weather conditions are being studied to determine how much additional fuel will be needed to heat the hospital.

Salaries raised

BLOOMFIELD— Salary raises for city employes was approved by the City Council Thursday night.

The council discussed the water bond issue to be voted on Jan. 23. The councilmen also voted to have city attorney Joe Welborn draw up a city ordinance to prohibit the selling of beer or other intoxicating beverages on Sunday within the city limits.

Doty, who is chief juvenile officer in the 10th Judicial District, Thursday praised the Missouri Board of Training Schools for selecting Bell.

Doty made the remarks at a meeting of the Northern Missouri Juvenile Officers Association at Higginsville State School.

He also praised the Positive Peer Culture program at Boonville and said he was happy the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistant Council has funded the PPC program for another year.

DEXTER— A graduate adult education course, "Supervision of Student Teaching", will begin this month.

Persons may register during the first classroom session at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 17. The class will be held in the home economics room at the high school.

Waltrip named treasurer for 1973 Dystrophy march

Bill Waltrip, operations officer of Security National Bank, has been named campaign treasurer for the 1973 Sikeston March Against Dystrophy, Glen A. Farasy, field representative for Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. for Southern Missouri, announced today.

Volunteer marchers will conduct a house- to- house appeal Jan. 23 for funds to fight Muscular Dystrophy and related neuro- muscular diseases.

Waltrip said, "The drive here in Sikeston is part of a nationwide effort in which thousands of volunteer marchers will participate. In the interest of public service and for the convenience of the volunteer marchers and donors, Security National Bank will act as depository for the campaign."

Muscular Dystrophy is a disease which cripples its victims by progressively destroying muscle tissue. Thousands of Missouri residents are afflicted by MD. Approximately two- thirds of these victims are children. The majority of its child victims will not grow to maturity unless a cure is found.

Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America is a national voluntary health agency headed by Jerry Lewis. MDAA again this year received the "stamp of approval" of the National Health Council for meeting the standards of performance established for organizations of its kind.

Missouri visits K-State

COLUMBIA — Missouri is hoping for a re- enactment, and Kansas State wants retribution, when two of the Big Eight's top basketball contenders collide in a conference opener at Manhattan Saturday night.

Both clubs were finalists in the league's pre- season holiday tournament at Kansas City two weeks ago. Mizzou cuffed the 'Cats, 82-72, with a 13- point flurry down the stretch after K-State had surged back from a 15- point handicap to tie the score at 62-62.

The fifth- ranked Tigers struggled to their 12th straight win Monday night at SMU. They edged the Mustangs, 74-73, on John Brown's follow- up lay-in ahead of the final buzzer. The hotly disputed decision came after Missouri, trailing by a point, had put the ball in play from out of bounds with two seconds left.

K-State (9-2) is rated 14th nationally this week.

Against Missouri, the Wildcats won't need any hypo- ing from Hartman. They are still chafing from a second straight defeat by Missouri in the tourney finals -- and, this time, they get a chance to sully the Tigers' unbeaten record on their new tartan court.

At Kansas City, KSU's big buys -- 6-10 Steve Mitchell and 6-9 Larry Williams -- were burdened with early foul trouble. Hartman, therefore, didn't get full mileage out of his top talent, notably Mitchell who still picked up 18 points in a limited role.

Eberhard, the tourney's outstanding player, was tough on the base line. The rugged Iowan pumped in 24 points, including seven of the Bengals' 13 in a row during the late pullaway. On a 9-for-11 shooting performance, mostly from outside, Salmon had a 20- point night.

Last year, Kansas State beat Missouri by two points at Manhattan, and by three in Columbia en route to the conference championship.

The Tigers come home Monday night for a conference date with Colorado, another tourney victim at Kansas City. Missouri stopped the Buffs, 98-78, with their classiest win of the season -- hitting 63.4 per cent from the field.

Brown was the high scorer in that one with 22 -- but all five Bental starters were 71 per cent accurate in field - goal tries.

Coach Sox Walseth's Buffaloes don't have overall size -- and they'd be in genuine distress without the talents of Scott Wedman and footballer Dave Logan.

The 6-7 Wedman is the team's leading scorer. Logan, a 6-4 frseshman, scored 17 against Missouri in the tournament -- and was labeled one of the league's brightest newcomers following his appearance at Kansas City. He was an alternate wingback for the bowl- going Buffs -- but bypassed the trip to Jacksonville.

Experience prevails

Experience in wrestling, as in any other sport, is the key to success. This fact was exemplified Thursday night as the Sikeston Bulldog matment dropped their first match in five outings 36- 13, to the Jackson Indians in the SHS fieldhouse.

The young SHS wrestlers managed only four wins on the evening, all by decisions.

Tom Bridger, Scott Hutchison and Jim Huff reeled off three consecutive wins for the Bulldogs early in the match to earn a brief 10- 6 team lead. Bridger and Hutchison were the only wrestlers for Sikeston to remain undefeated.

Losing their undefeated status were Steve Nowell and Bill Lewis. Nowell forced to forfeit his individual match because he could not get down to the 98- pound weight limit. Lewis lost a tough 4- 2 decision.

Bill Harlow, Sikeston's heavyweight division representative, collected the Bulldogs' other win in an 8- 5 decision over Goodson.

In other action, Lee Vaughn and John Ralph lost close individual matches, Ralph losing a 2- 0 decision and Vaughn a 9- 7 contest.

Saturday the Bulldogs will host six other schools in the fieldhouse in a freshman- sophomore tournament. The other schools are Ste. Genevieve, Flat River, Jackson, Charleston, Dexter and Cape Central. Tournament action is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. and continue throughout most of the morning and afternoon.

Results:

98- pound— Nowell forfeited to Loos
105- pound— Bridger beat Wright 14- 1
112- pound— Hutchison beat Jaco 3- 0
119- pound— Huff beat Seabaugh
126- pound— Stinson pinned by Ramsey
132- pound— Lewis lost to Koch 4- 2
138- pound— Vaughn lost to Meyers 9- 7
145- pound— Ralph lost to Collier 2- 0
155- pound— DeRoush pinned by Welker
167- pound— Blankenship lost to Winderkecht 9- 2
185- pound— Overby pinned by Malone

Heavyweight— Harlow beat Goodson 8- 5

In junior varsity competition the Bulldogs and Indians battled to a 27- 27 tie. Rhett Moore collected a pin for Sikeston while Jerry Lewis, Mike Crabb, Mark Hesselrode and Bill Paxton won decisions for the Sikeston jayvees.

Kelly favored

EAST PRAIRIE-- Coach Jim Orr and the East Prairie Eagles will host the Scott- Missippi Conference tournament starting Monday.

The Kelly Hawks are seeded team number one with Oran second, Scott County Central third and Chaffee fourth. The other three teams in the tournament will be Delta, Illmo- Scott City and East Prairie.

The Eagles surprised the Oran Eagles this past week as Steve Husk pumped in 27 points, so the hosts could be tough on their own court. Husk has averaged 18 points per game and is a 5- 11 guard. Joe Brown is a 6- 2 senior and leads the team in rebounding from his center position. Carl Moss is 6- 0 and has averaged about 12 rebounds and 12 points per game.

The Chaffee Red Devils are coached by J.F. Dopp and have a team capable of beating anybody in the conference. Senior Scott Thomas stands 6- 7 and leads the team in rebounds and scoring. Guard Pete Dooly is second in scoring and is the team leader in defense.

The Oran Eagles are coached by Joe Scott, assisted by Richard Morris. Scott has primarily a senior team with his two big men, Otis Burley and Paul Taylor, being seniors. Burley and Taylor are depended upon to do the bulk of the scoring and rebounding. Matt LeGrand is a junior and scores in double figures much of the time.

The Eagles are a Class S school under the new classifications for 1972- 73.

The Kelly Hawks are coached by Nick Lampher, assisted by Jim Thornsberry.

The Hawks have a well- balanced attack with a fine defensive team. 6- 2 junior Jeff Jackson is the leading offensive threat and the big rebounder. Denny Shelby is an accurate shooter from the corner and stands 6- 2. Senior Randy Thompson is counted on for defensive work more than offense but can put the ball in the basket when called upon. The guards are Vernon Dirnberger, a 5- 11 senior who Lampher uses for offense and Rich and Kenny Urhahn are the playmakers.

The Hawks recently finished second in the College High Christmas Tournament.

Coach Ronnie Cookson is the head mentor of the Scott Central Braves and his assistant is Ray Shoaf.

The Braves are led in both offense and defense by 6- 3 Fred Rowe, who averages in the 20 point range per game. Rowe is in his last year for the Braves. Robbie Carrow and Robert Cook, both juniors, have hit in double figures this season.

The Illmo- Scott City Rams are coached by Charles Bertrand. The Rams are led in scoring by Rand Amick, a senior. Jim Noon, a 6- 0 senior, and Jim Bollinger, a 5- 8 senior, are the returning letterment from last year's squad.

The Delta Bobcats are coached by Dale Harrison, assisted by Bob Wood. Delta is led by 6- 5 Gary Bock and 5- 11 Carson Kelly. Bock is the leading rebounder and also has scoring ability.

Oak Ridge top seeded

PERRYVILLE— The Perryville Invitational Tournament gets underway Tuesday with the Oak Ridge Jays as the favorite to take the first- place trophy.

It will be a seven- team event with Meadow Heights of Patton seeded second, followed by St. Vincent of Perryville, third, and Jackson fourth. The remaining three teams entered will be College High of Cape Girardeau, host Perryville, and Coulterville, Ill.

Oak Ridge boasts an 11- 4 record for the season and recently placed fourth in the College High Christmas tournament in Cape Girardeau. College High is 0- 8; Jackson, 1- 5; Meadow Heights, 8- 4; Perryville, 2- 4; and St. Vincent, 5- 3.

Meadow Heights is the defending champion, having upended Jackson last year for that honor.

There will be three games Tuesday, beginning at 6 p.m. The semifinals are on Thursday night and the finals Friday night.

Indians host NEMS

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State University's basketball Indians will be trying to avenge last Saturday's setback when they take on Northeast Missouri State University of Kirksville Saturday night in their first appearance before the home crowd since Dec. 22. Tip-off time at Houck Field House is 8 p.m.

The game will also be the first regular- season MIAA bout for the Tribe. However, it will not be their first look at fellow league foes.

Last week the Indians competed in the revived MIAA tournament in Springfield and, in the final game of that tourney, came out on the short end of a 75-73 score against Northeast Missouri State. The loss dropped the Tribe to sixth place in the eight-team field.

Discussing Saturday's game with Northeast Missouri State, assistant basketball coach Carroll Williams said, "They will have the confidence of having beaten us once and will play their slow style that produces few mistakes."

He added, "We will try to pressure them into making more mistakes than they did against us at Springfield."

The Bulldogs, with a record of 6-5, are a team which plays well on the road, and one you can't let up against because they just keep on coming, Williams said.

In last week's game with Northeast Missouri State, the Indians shot 48 per cent from the field, outrebounded the Bulldogs by 20, and hit 84 per cent from thhe charity stripe. But they were hurt by numerous turnovers and fouls.

The Bulldogs, on the other hand, played near flawless ball, scored practically every time they came down the floor, and committed only two turnovers in the final half.

On Monday Southeast Missouri State will host Northwest Missouri State University at Houck Field House at 8 p.m. in the second conference outing of the year.

The Bearcats, who finished fourth in the MIAA tournament and defeated Northeast Missouri State in the opening round, have size, jumping ability, quickness and good ball handlers, according to Williams. Their record is 6-4.

The strength of the 'Cats has been bolstered considerable, Williams said, by four junior college transfers, all of whom are now starting, and the assistant coach said Northwest Missouri State is quite capable of defeating the Tribe in spite of the home-court advantage.

After the two home games, Southeast Missouri State will embark on a four-game conference tour that will take the Indians to Southwest Missouri State University in Springfield on Jan. 20, Central Missouri State University in Warrensburg on Jan. 22, the University of Missouri -- Rolla on Jan. 27 and Lincoln University in Jefferson City on Jan. 29.

Last week, in the first round of the MIAA tournament, Southeast Missouri State was in the difficult position of facing the tourney favorite and tourney host in the opening game. Southwest Missouri State was unbeaten and definitely a heavy favorite to romp over the Tribe.

The Bears won, as expected, but by only a 66-62 margin, and the Indians were never far from the lead throughout the game.

The following night, after narrowly missing the upset which would have put them in the championship bracket, the Tribe pounced on Central Missouri State's Mules and recorded a 106-78 victory.

For the most part, the Indian coaches were pleased with their squad's showing in the tourney. Williams said, "We were in every ball game we played," adding, "We played better than our 1-2 record would indicate."

The assistant coach commented that it is difficult for Southeast Missouri State, with the pressure - type basketball it employs, to play three consecutive days. He said that in the final game of the tourney the team was a bit tired.

Eagles in finals

Chaffee moved into the finals of the Scott- Mississippi Junior high basketball tournament Thursday night with a win over the Delta eighth graders, 43-27. Oran defeated Illmo- Scott City seventh graders 30-23 in the second game, and East Prairie eighth graders pulled through a tight one to take a win from Oran, 33-31, in the Scott County Central High School gym.

Chaffee's eighth- grade team stepped out to a first quarter lead and held onto it throughout the game. Wachter paced Chaffee with 22 markers. Bowers hit for 16 points for the losers.

In second game seventh grade action, Oran gained a sizeable edge over Illmo- Scott City. Scott dumped in 12 points to lead the scoring for Oran. Johnson was high scorer with 10 markers for Scott City.

In the final game, Oran was dumped by East Prairie. Falling back in the first half, Oran was forced to play catch- up ball and almost did but East Prairie had the extra basket it needed to pull out the win. Williford ripped the cords for 20 points for the winners. Burlison had 13 markers for Oran.

Finals will be played Saturday night. In seventh- grade action, Illmo- Scott City will be facing Oran at 6:30 for first place, and Chaffee and East Prairie will battle it out for the eighth grade championship.

Score by Quarters:

Chaffee	9	8	8	18	—43
Delta	2	8	10	7	—27
Score by Quarters:
I-SC	2	6	2	13	—23

Raider Week

POPLAR BLUFF— Three Rivers Community College of Poplar Bluff will entertain three other schools in the Classic of Champions basketball tournament beginning tonight at the PBHS gymnasium and ending Saturday evening with the finals.

This highlights a big week for the TRCC athletes after two of their baseball stars were selected in the major league baseball draft early this week.

Randy Smith, a fireballing pitcher from Arbyrd, was selected eighth by California, while Mike Hill of Puxico was singled out by the Boston Red Sox. Both had previously been drafted. Hill was selected by St. Louis in June.

Competing in the basketball tournament will be Lindsey Wilson, Lakeland and Jackson State colleges. The Raiders finished second last season and sport an 8- 3 record going into tonight's game against Jackson State.

Two former Southeast Missouri high school coaches, Jim Hart and Howard Garrett, will lead teams into the tournament.

AL adopts pinch-hit rule

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league baseball, bound by tradition for decades, took a gigantic step towards change Thursday when the American League was given approval to adopt the designated pinch hitter rule.

With attendance lagging compared to the rival National League, the American League also sought a pinch runner rule and interleague play at the joint meetings which were concluded Thursday.

The pinch runner rule was disallowed and the major leagues announced a committee will be adopted to study and review aspects for interleague play which could become a possibility in 1974.

The National League, which will not use the experimental pinch hitter rule, gave its approval for the American League experiment for the next three seasons with Charles "Chub" Feeney, president of the National League, admitting "if it does work out, we wouldn't be reticent to adopting it."

Under the new rule, a manager can designate a pinch hitter to bat for the starting pitcher and all subsequent pitchers in a game without affecting the status of a pitcher throughout the contest.

However, the manager must make his "designate pinch hitter" selection before the start of the game and name the pinch hitter in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-inchief.

"The rule has great possibilities," said Joe Cronin, president of the American League. "It will give the game a new dimension. We're very happy to be able to use it."

Cronin, questioned on numerous ramifications and intricacies of the rule, said "We'll thrash it all out before the season starts."

As far as the All-Star game, the World Series and exhibitions between the two leagues, the rule will not be in affect and the basic rules of baseball will apply.

Commisioner Bowie Kuhn, who presided over the joint meetings and was strongly in favor of the rule change, said he hoped that the new committee which will be named to study interleague play will have a reort ready before the two leagues hold another joint meeting next August.

Kuhn also said strides had been made towards a new Basic Agreement between owners and players.

The Basic Agreement expired last Dec. 31 and the two groups have been working feverishly on a new agreement. The owners came up with some new twists at the recent meetings in Honolulu but they were quickly turned down by the players.

The explanation of the designated pinch-hitter baseball rule adopted by the American League Thursday:

"A pinch hitter may be designated to bat for the starting pitcher and al subsuquent pitchers in any game without otherwise affecting the status of the pitcher(s) in the game. A designated pinch hitter for the pitcher must be selected prior to the game and must be included in the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief.

"A designated pinch hitter shall not take a position in the field in any game in which he appears as a designated pinch hitter; nor shall he appear as a pinch runner. His designation as a pinch hitter for the pitcher limits him to that task exclusively.

"It is not mandatory that club designate a pinch hitter for the pitcher, but failure to designate a pinch hitter prior to the game precludes the use of a designated pinch hitter for that game. "Pinch hitters for a designated pinch hitter may be used. Any substitute pinch hitter for a designated pinch hitter himself becomes a designated pinch hitter. A replaced designated pinch hitter shall not re-enter the game in any capacity.

"Except for designated pinch hitters, all other pinch hitters, and those for whom they hit, will be governed by the adopted official playing rules."

Lightfoot to lead Jan. 21-28 revival

DEXTER — Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, an evangelist from Kerrville, Tex., will conduct revival services at First Missionary Baptist Church from Jan. 21 through Jan. 28, according to the Rev. M. E. Dark, pastor.

Services will begin at 7:30 each evening and 10:30 a.m. each Sunday.

For Dr. Lightfoot, the revival services mark a return engagement at Dexter First Baptist.

Dr. Lightfoot has conducted crusades throughout America and in Mexico, Guatemala and Europe. He is also sought after for appearances in public school assemblies, civic club meetings, and banquets.

He is a native of Santa Anna, Tex., and a graduate of both Hardin- Simmons University at Abilene, Tex., and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth, Tex. He has served as pastor of churches in Big Lake, Odessa and Snyder — all in Texas — and as superintendent of missions for the Austin and Midland- Odessa Baptist Associations where he led in establishing 14 new churches.

In addition to his preaching ministry, Dr. Lightfoot is known also as a humorist and magician. His messages on Christianity are blended with humor. He emphasizes morality, patriotism and the Christian life through his magic presentations, adding a new dimension for helping people understand the message of the Bible.

His "magic with a message" programs for school assemblies have proven to be particularly popular with young audiences throughout America.

Randy Lablanc of Columbia, Miss., will lead music for the revival.

Bruces Honduras bound

MALDEN — The Rev. and Mrs. Joe W. Bruce have been assigned a foreign mission field in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, after completing a language study course in Costa Rica.

The Rev. Mr. Bruce was born at Clarkton, where his parents operated the Ward Store in the early 1940s, but grew up in the Qulin area. He is a former pastor of Valley Creek Baptist Church at Leonard, Tex. His wife is the former Miss Shirley Plumlee of Clarendon, Ark.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bruce received their first appointment to the foreign mission field in 1971.

Faith aided Pueble crew

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Stephen R. Harris, who was the chief intelligence officer aboard the USS Pueblo, says a deep belief in God helped the ship's 82 crewmen survive their 11-month imprisonment in North Korea five years ago.

"Among our crew God was very much alive," Harris, now with the Department of the Navy in Washington, said in a recent interview.

The Pueblo and its crew were seized Jan. 23, 1968, by North Korea, who said the ship had violated territorial waters.

Harris said he returned for his Bible "in the confused moments when capture seemed imminent," but it was immediately taken from him "at the point of a bayonet."

Harris said the prisoners decided to make a Bible "which was less than 100 per cent successful.

"Snatches of hymns, elements of worship services, precious bits of scripture were written on left-over scraps of paper. This unorthodox, but living, vital document became known as the 'Pueblo Bible.'

"In our unchurched, unlearned way we turned to God" as prayer groups and secret biblical discussions sprang up among those not in solitary confinement," he said.

Harris said when the Pueblo Bible was discovered, he received a "new set of bruises," but he was "brought out of despondency" by the memorized scripture.

A Religious Trend: Pastors in Charge

By REV. DAVID POLING

During periods of rapid social change and cultural upheaval, it is comforting to read history. It is not surprising that one tinds so many history majors on college campuses—and such a keen interest in the Middle Ages, and on into the Reformation.

One must not force historic parallels, but there are numerous connections between the 20th century and the 16th—and the religious comparison is fascinating, indeed.

Today we are viewing the breakup of large superstructure organizations like the National Council of Churches. We also are witness to the drastic reordering and reshaping of major denominations.

Within Protestantism, power has moved sharply away from national boards and agencies to regional and state alliances. Money and manpower is more and more being decided and directed on the local level

In many instances, the convulsions of change have been painful, and unfair. Yet here we are and the situation is not unlike the 16th century Reformation that saw so much commotion in the wards of education and religion.

Luther brought a penetrating and devasting judgment against a tired order—the Roman Catholic Church. At the same moment, restless princes and national leaders were kicking the props out of the Holy Roman Empire, so the changes for the common man touched church and state. The one great church gave way to the likes of Luther, Calvin, and Knox—and much later, but with no less fire, John Wesley.

What is most interesting now, within the broad structural changes that shape the church of the 1970s, is the return to leadership of the pastor-theologian. No longer will the life of the Christian household be dominated by personalities at headquarters or individuals holding national posts. The base has returned to the parish and the pastor becomes the moving force of church life.

Luther, Calvin (a layman and lawyer), Knox, and later, Wesley, were pleased to give their energies to the parish. Without fail they preached every Sunday and taught constantly within the community. Their direction was not the creation of some vast national body but a believing Christian community wherever people gathered.

It is our contention that a replay of this mood exists and that the Christian church is being served by some outstanding pastor/theologians of every brand and persuasion.

It is good to mention names, for it validates this observation.

Methodists are aware of the work of James Wright in Kalamazoo, Mich., Broadus Elkins in El Paso, Texas, Gene Miller in Oklahoma. Many of these clergymen exert civic influence as well as pastoral care like Ralph Loew in Buffalo, N.Y., and John Pearson in Pleasantville, N.Y., and fellow Lutherans at St. Peter's Church in Manhattan.

Disciples of Christ as represented with men like Howard Fowler of Salem, Ore., and Orval Holt of Bartlesville, Oklahoma.

Southern Baptists abound with strong pastoral leaders, men like Buckner Fanning of Texas and Thurston Brice in Louisiana.

United Presbyterians look to individuals like Charles Ehrhardt in Arizona and James Angell of Claremont, Calif.

Many of these pastors, like Angell, have written good books while maintaining a strong pastoral relationship.

Already we are out of space with a dozen denominations to go—proving this point, that powerful and able churchmen abound who are serving the local church—the center for Christian community in the years ahead.

Missionaries guests for weekend program

POPLAR BLUFF— Dr. and Mrs. Byron Haines, fraternal workers of the United Presbyterian Church, presently on furlough from the Christian Study Center, Rawalpindi, Pakistan, will be guests at a "Weekend of Mission" at First Presbyterian Church today through Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. Haines were first appointed to the mission field in 1956 when he was assigned to serve as an instructor in chemistry and as college chaplain at Forman Christian College in Lahore, Pakistan.

Dr. and Mrs. Haines will be involved in numerous meetings during their visit. Saturday at 2 p.m., Dr. Haines will discuss the nature of mission on six continents as it pertains to the problems and issues which now confront the denomination. At 7:30 p.m., there will be a service of prayer and praise.

Dr. Haines will preach at the worship service Sunday morning on the subject, "World Mission Now". He and Mrs. Haines will meet with the young people at 4 p.m. for informal discussions. At 6 p.m., there will be a "Family Night" covered-dish dinner. The program will feature a slide presentation of the mission in Pakistan.

Mrs. Haines will be guest of the women of the church at a luncheon meeting Monday. She will discuss the Presbyterian work in Pakistan from a woman's point of view.

Scripture: Ezekiel 1:1-3; 2-4; 33:1-9

EZEKIEL AMONG THE EXILES

Ezekiel, one of our major prophets, was carried from Jerusalem into exile by the Babylonians after the invaders captured the city in 597 B.C.

After five years as a displaced person Ezekiel received his call to serve God as a prophet. In the first chapter of his book the prophet attempts to use words to recall his vision from God.

It is difficult to relate such an encounter to another person. Ezekiel was subjected to periods of trance and ecstasy and was certainly psychic.

Many of his prophecies are given to the people in the form of symbolic actions. Above all, Ezekiel is a writer. He is useful to the church historian because of his concern for dates.

Ezekiel refers to himself as the "son of man," stressing the fact that he is a mere human being called to God's service. This forms the basis for the memory selections today:

"Son of man, I have made you a watchman for the house of Israel; whenever you hear a word from my mouth, you shall give them warning from me."

To become a "son of man" one must not be a passive tool. Rather, he must have an open mind, giving himself fully to serving God.

To become a successful prophet one must not become too concerned about the attitudes of those to whom he speaks. He must have faith in God's words and have the courage to relay the messages to the people.

Ezekiel accepted his responsibilities of being a prophet without any misgiving. He did not experience moments of inner struggle that Jeremiah encountered.

Ezekiel did become discouraged at times. He knew he was not to become too upset over the people's indifference or inattention to his prophecies.

Ezekiel wanted his people to believe in his message. On the other hand, we seldom want to be told that we have sinned and we will be punished.

With his divine commission, Ezekiel told his people that God was displeased with them and He would punish them. They became displaced persons, as many Jews have been for centuries.

After two thousand years, the Jews finally received a home they could call their own. The United Nations created the nation of Israel in 1948. Even today conflicts continue there.

Religious beliefs have held the Jews together. No other group of people have been persecuted for such a long period. Hitler and his followers killed ten million Jews but they couldn't destroy the Jewish religion.

In Ezekiel's days the Jews were being forced to live as displaced persons. Today we can study the displaced persons in the Far East to understand their problems.

A full review of this Scripture reveals the tremendous letdown Ezekiel felt when he moved from his mountaintop experience to return to the sad condition of his people.

It is difficult to relate to another person one's encounter with God. In becoming a watchman for God the prophet had to warn of impending attack. He warned about the impending fall of Jerusalem, but the people wouldn't listen.

Ezekiel, and other prophets as well, could not be a mere bystander. He is held accountable to God. He had to approach his assignment with caution.

In another approach, one could view Ezekiel as an actor rather than a spokesman. He was acting out the message God gave him. Yet he was willing to accept this role because he had met God.

Through many signs and symbols God seeks to penetrate our hearts. First, however, we must open our heart to Him.

Securities sales land church in legal hassle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Rev. Rex Humbard's Cathedral of Tomorrow and the Ohio Department of Commerce are working on a way to keep the multimillion dollar religious and business empire going in the wake of department demands that the cathedral stop selling securities.

"I doubt very much that they're going to put the church out of business," said Charles Iden, Akron attorney for the cathedral.

Commerce Director Dennis Shaul disclosed Wednesday he had told Humbard that his cathedral must either voluntarily stop selling securities or face court action.

Humbard's organization has sold bonds for Mackinac College, gift annuity plans, life income agreements, and other security deposit agreements, since the 1950s.

Six other states have ordered a halt to the sales. They are Michigan, Missouri, Indiana, Oregon, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

In addition to the college and the financial transactions, Humbard's enterprises include a girdle factory and a printing and engraving business in Akron, as well as his religious broadcasts from his own studios.

Shaul said he and other department officials visited Akron in October and conducted an audit of the entire organization. "We found it to be in a negative net worth position," he said.

Shaul said the problem now is to find a way to end the securities sales, which both he and Iden agreed had been improper, and keep the organization afloat.

"We have two reasons for wanting to cooperate with them on this," Shaul said. "Because they're a church and because they're a business that is widespread."

Iden said he had proposed a way to alter the cathedral's business transactions to bring them into compliance with the law. He declined to give details, but said Shaul was studying it.

"The thing is that this is the first administration to come along and recognize that this is a problem for many charities and sit down sympathetically and try to work out a solution," Iden said.

"I knew they the securities sales; were improper," Iden said. "But it's difficult for an administrator to understand why he should have to comply with the laws when other charities are doing the same things.

"He (Humbard) copied his literature, contracts and formats from others distributed by other colleges and churches," Iden said. "I know that doesn't excuse it, but he isn't the only one."

Securities Division Chief Bill Case said the department knew of no instance in which anyone had complained of losing money on an investment in Humbard's enterprises.

Native religion of American Indians gaining in respect

NEW YORK (AP) — The native religion of American Indians is gaining increased respect today in the churches that once tried to stamp it out.

Scholars see a particularly timely reason for the change - the need for a deeper reverence for nature as manifested by Indian religion - in the face of modern damaging misuse of the environment.

Declaring that Christian theology is "terribly impoverished when it comes to a doctrine of nature," the Rev. Dr. Benjamin Reist, dean of San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, Calif., predicts:

"There must come a day quite soon when American Indian theology must be represented in the highest councils of Christian theology in the world."

His analysis, contending that Indian tribal religion must be accorded serious church study as one aspect of the ways people have sought to relate to God, came at a recent meeting of Indians and church leaders.

It was held in Estes Park, Colo., by a loosely knit association of Indians and non-Indians from many Protestant denominations called the National Fellowship of Indian workers.

Coming in a period of spreading "dialogues" between Christianity and other religions, the discussions marked a beginning inquiry into the relationship of church teachings and tribal beliefs.

The affair also came at a time when a growing number of denominations have set up special Indian departments, headed by Indians, to bolster church sensitivity to their interests.

But with the church perspective now changing, an Indian clergyman who heads United Methodist Indian work, the Rev. Homer Noley, of New York, says Indian religion may be recognized as "closer to original Christianity" than most American whites realize.

"Our Indian ancestors believed in a spirit world of all things," he noted at the Estes Park gathering.

NCC voices concern for conflict in Ireland

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)— The National Council of Churches has voiced "prayerful concern" for Irish churches and people involved in the struggle in northern Ireland.

In addition, the Council pledged support of churches in the United States in trying to resolve the conflict.

Member denominations of the council urged their "leaders of the churches in this land, which has been greatly benefited by our fellow citizens of Irish ancestry, to facilitate the realization of a just and lasting peace.'.

The Rev. David Bowman, a Jesuit priest and council ecumenical specialist who was on a U.S. church delegation that recently visited Ireland to try to help resolve the problem.

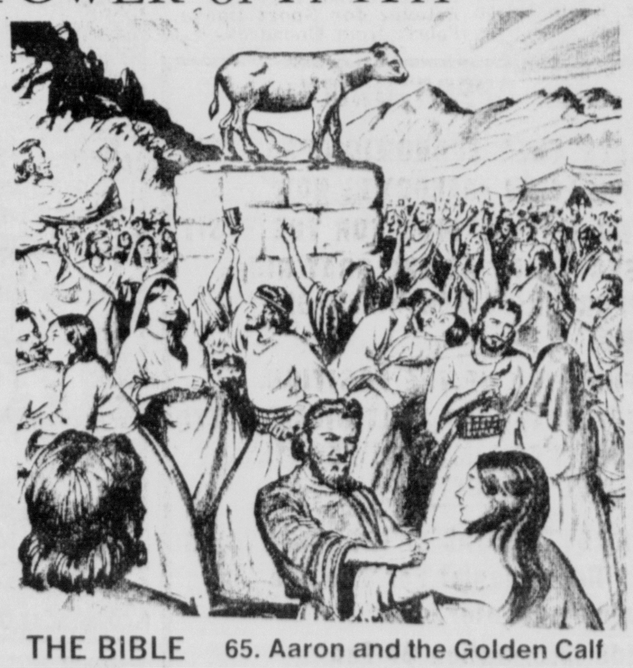
The POWER of FAITH



THE BIBLE 65. Aaron and the Golden Calf

When the children of Israel saw that Moses delayed to come down out of the mount, they gathered together to ask Aaron to make them gods, for they did not know what had become of Moses.

"And Aaron said unto them, Break off the golden earrings, which are in the ears of your wives, of your sons, and of your daughters, and bring them unto me. And all the people brake off the golden earrings which were in their ears, and brought them unto Aaron."

Exodus 32:2-3.

Aaron then melted the golden earrings in the fire, and from the molten gold he fashioned the people a golden calf. Aaron next built an altar before the graven image and proclaimed the next day a feast day.

Meanwhile, the Lord informed Moses that the people had quickly turned aside from His commandments, and He ordered Moses to leave the mount. Moses came down from the mount carrying the two stone tablets upon which God's commandments had been written.

"And the tables were the work of God, and the writing was the writing of God, graven upon the tables."

Exodus 32:16.

The children of Israel would soon have visited upon them God's wrath for breaking the second commandment.

Does your room talk? Rooms often reveal secrets we prefer to conceal. It's especially true of teen-agers. The general scheme of decoration can reflect the degree of maturity of the person. A usually tidy room may suddenly become messy and cluttered. This may be a clue to anxiety. A surface-neat room with disorganized chests of drawers and closets may indicate outward calm but inner confussion. A bare and colorless room can reflect that the boy or girl lacks strength to cope with daily life or school. Adolescents often reveal feelings through the objects they use to decorate rooms and subconsciously they are telling those around what he or she is really like inside.

What is your water really like? Does it reveal itself through unpleasant tastes, chlorine odors, rust stains and bathtub rings? A wonderful change in your life awaits you when you install a water refining unit from Braswell Electric. This appliance will allow you to have clean, clear, soft water from every tap in your home. Get refined water for the good life.

War continues because congress won't confront executive

By STUART SYMINGTON

WASHINGTON -- One of the primary reasons this tragic war continues is because a majority of the Congress has consistently refused to confront the executive branch with obvious inconsistencies in its various statements about Vietnam.

On Oct. 26, Mr. Kissinger told the American people that peace was at hand. Later that same evening, in a campaign speech from Kentucky, President Nixon announced that he would achieve "peace with honor" instead of "peace with surrender."

Clearly these statements conveyed the impression that an agreement had been reached and that within a short time our prisoners would be returned and the war would be over.

We now know that no peace agreement had been reached Oct. 26, and that none has been reached since. In fact, the bombing of North Vietnam has been the heaviest of the war, with the highest United States casualties in planes and airmen; and the North Vietnamese press asserts that our recent bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong has caused "the death of hundreds of civilians and the destruction of thousands of dwelling houses."

It was on Oct. 26 also that Mr. Kissinger told the people but a few minor details needed resolving before final peace, making reference to the usual translation difficulties. Among those problems still unresolved, however, were the presence of North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, the function of the Council of Reconciliation, and separate nationhood for South Veitnam.

But these three issues are the ones we have been fighting over since the start of the longest war in the history of the United States.

Despite the now obvious need for more investment of our increasingly limited resources in such problems here at home as poverty, pollution, housing, energy and educational facilities, the President continues to rush billions of dollars of more military equipment in support of the totalitarian regimes of Southeast Asia.

The President's recent veto of two rehabilitation acts caused Marine Lieut. Robert Muller, a Vietnam veteran who is now a paraplegic, to observe that although it was not irresponsible for him, as a platoon commander in Vietnam and adviser to the South Vietnamese Army, to call in air strikes to kill people and destroy villages at heavy cost, it was "irresponsible" to put up the money to give him adequate medical care in a veterans' hospital.

For some nine years I have been warning my colleagues about the growing danger to our economy that is inherent in our continuing unfavorable balance of payments, at first only in the public sector, now in the private sector as well. As the ratio of our assets to our liabilities continues to decline this is causing increasing apprehension in all economic circles, both at home and abroad.

A visit earlier this year to the Far East, including Japan, as well as one last month to Europe, including various countries behind the Iron Curtain, convinced me that, in this nuclear age, everyone realizes that a military attack against the United States would be an act of suicide.

These trips also convinced me that the next great struggle will be an economic war. If true, that bears in significant practical fashion on the great and growing danger of our continuing to pour additional billions of dollars into the Vietnam theater to achieve a military victory against that little country.

What's the law?

The case of the cackling husband

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Wilbur was earning a "weekly" salary when he met and married Big Bertha who was earning a big salary running a big business. When she began running Wilbur, however, causing poor henpecked Wilbur to all but cackle in his sleep, he decided to call it quits. He sued to end their marriage on the grounds of extreme cruelty.

"She's depriving me of my manliness," he complained in court. "Because she earns more money than I do, every time I try to put my foot down, she steps on it. As a man, I'm supposed to be head of the household, not her."

"Who says so?" was Bertha's answer. "Since I'm the big-money earner in the family, it's obvious that I'm the one who's best able to run things. As a bachelor, Wilbur never had it so good. Consequently he's got no complaint and he's not entitled to a divorce?"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you grant the cackling husband a divorce?

This is how the judge ruled; NO! The judge held that Wilbur's situation was not so unusual to warrant the granting of a divorce. As a matter of fact, observed the judge in effect, his income producing wife was no more of a boss than many wives who merely stay home and take care of the house.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

The believers learned how to walk in the fear of the Lord and in the comfort of the Holy Spirit. (Acts 9:31, LNT)

PRAYER: Lord, while we dream of witnessing to the world, we overlook the opportunity nearby. We see others as witnesses, but not ourselves where we live. Help us to live an evangelistic family life together. In the name of Jesus, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . Amen."
